GERMAN STRIKE FEVER SPREADS

Whole Empire Threatened and French Intervention Possible in Ruhr—Socialist Government Using Iron Hand in Repressing Labor Troubles.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Feb. 3.—The general railroad strike threatened today to spread to other branches of unionized industry. It is reported that the coal miners in the Ruhr District are taking a secret strike vote. If this threatened walkout materializes, it may force France's hand as France has been threatening military occupation of the Ruhr ever since the armistice.

Latest advices from the industrial regions indicate that the strike may assume proportions that are bound to influence the European political situation.

The German people are anxiously watching the spectacle of the government trying to crush with an iron hand, the railway strike and perhaps thus forcing the same kind of general strike on which this same government was founded on Armistice Day, and reborn after the Von Kapp coup.

The whole empire is threatened with a tie-up for the strike fever is seizing every line of trade labor.

Already Berlin's food supply is seriously threatened. Not a single head of cattle reached the city today.

President Ebert met the first phase of the rail strike with a history-making proclamation announcing sharper repressive measures than Germany has known even in the days of the Hohenzollern monarchy. Never in the days of the Hohenzollern dynasty did the government go so far as to confiscate a strike fund.

A spectacular fight with labor arrayed against the Socialist government is in prospect. The president is determined to crush the movement in its incipiency, while trade unions are rushing to the aid of the rail men. From present indications, the German revolution has reached its third phase with the Socialist-Labor faction in politics divided against itself.

K. OF C. MINSTREL SHOW FEB. 23

The Knights of Columbus Dramatic Society is rehearsing for a minstrel show to be given at St. Joseph's School Hall on Thursday, February 23, and at St. Mary's School Hall on the following evening, Friday, February 24.

The young men have been practising diligently and expect to put over one of the best shows ever staged in this city by local talent. Among the funny men will be seen Tommy Murray, a big laugh producer, Berny Roach and Bob Carter who on several occasions delighted Kingston audiences by their wit. Some of the other entertainers will be Frank Tierney and Marty Dunn, tenors; Clarence schryver, baritone; Joe Murray, bass. About thirty will make up the circle surrounding Thomas F. Coughlin as interlocutor.

The proceeds of this entertainment will go toward the fund for paying off the debt of the newly erected nurses' home of the Benedictine Hospital.

Miss Margaret McNelis, David Long and Harry Maisenhelder are the directors.

THREE THEORIES IN TAYLOR MURDER

Famous Movie Director Had Just Escorted Mabel Normand To Her Car When Man Entered and Shot Him—Burglary Theory As Well As Two Involving Woman Interest Police.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Los Angeles, Cal. Feb. 3.—Although they have investigated many so-called clues and listened patiently to suggestions of his brother workers in the film industry who have pledged their fortunes and time to aid in the search, the police have made no substantial progress in tracking down the murderer of William D. Taylor, famous motion picture director, killed in his bungalow home here Wednesday night.

Twenty-four hours after Taylor's body was found lying on the floor of a reception room by Henry Peavy, a negro servant, the announcement was made to the International News Service this morning by Detective Captain Adams that "interesting developments will possible occur during the day."

It is understood that most of the detectives and other officers working on the case are agreed on three theories as to the motive for the slaying. These are revenge, jealousy and burglary. And behind the first two theories, the investigators say they believe lurks the shadow of a woman.

At 6:45 o'clock Wednesday night, Taylor ate dinner alone. At 7:05 Mabel Normand, a film actress, familiar to "movie" audiences for 13 years, entered the apartment. Her chauffeur awaited outside. Miss Normand told the police she called to get a book. At 7:40 she says she returned to her automobile escorted by Taylor, who chatted for a few minutes and then went back into his home.

A few minutes before 8 o'clock, Mrs. Douglas McLean, wife of a film star living in a nearby apartment heard a pistol shot. Mrs. MacLean saw a man leaving the Taylor home. He wore a cap and a muffler. He hesitated about leaving the apartment and started to walk in again. Then finally he closed the door and disappeared through an alley instead of going into the street entrance of the court.

The police are of the opinion that it was this man who probably fired the shot that killed the director.

It was a .38 calibre metal jacketed bullet that caused the director's death. The bullet was found last night by autopsy surgeon Wagner. It had penetrated the back beneath the left shoulder blade and after piercing the heart, taken an upward course into the neck where it lodged. It was at first believed that Taylor had died from a hemorrhage.

The police are of the belief that whoever attacked Taylor did it after he returned to the apartment on leaving Miss Normand. The director is thought to have sat down at a desk to work and was possibly bending over when the assassin fired.

Taylor was the victim of robberies and forgeries during 1921 that amounted to several thousand dollars. When he returned from a trip to Europe, he lodged forgery charges against E. F. Sands, a former secretary and valet. He declared Sands had looted his apartment, forged many checks on his bank account, and charged bills for expensive lingerie and women's clothing to the director.

An effort to locate Sands was continued for several months by the police, but proved fruitless.

Taylor was president of the Motion Picture Directors Association and a leader in the fight against drastic censorship and for clean pictures. To some of his close friends he occasionally referred to a daughter Ethel, 18, believed to be in or near New York city in school. It was the impression of some of his friends that Mrs. Taylor either died or went out of the director's life years ago.

He was a man of fine intellect, of a retiring disposition, and had few friend visit him at his home. He was an enthusiast motorist and spent a great deal of his leisure time outdoors.

Jesse Lasky, first vice president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, which employed Taylor, issued the following statement to the International News Service today:

"This organization purposes actively to enter into the plans for the detection of the murderer. Resources of time and money will be drawn upon to accomplish this object. A man of finer ideals I never have known."

JULIUS HYMAN TO ADDRESS Y. M. H. A. SUNDAY

The local Young Men's Hebrew Association will be addressed at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening, February 5, in the school hall by Julius Hyman of New York.

Mr. Hyman is one of the field directors of the Jewish Welfare Board, and has lectured extensively throughout the country. He had spent considerable time in France during the war in connection with the Welfare Board activities. He will lecture on "The Contribution of the Jews to American Life." Besides the lecture a musical program has been arranged. The public is invited.

Motoring to Florida.

John F. Hasbrouck and Orson Beatty accompanied by Cyrus Hasbrouck of Newark, N. J., left New York Tuesday, for a tour of about six weeks, and expected to arrive in Savanah, Ga. this morning, thence motoring on to Florida, returning by way of Washington and Philadelphia.

D. A. R. HEARS OF OLD CAMP SITES

The regular February meeting of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R. held at the Chapter House on Thursday afternoon proved to be of quite unusual interest. During the business session it was voted to leave the matter of a proper celebration of February 22nd., to the social committee, and announcement of their plans will be made in a later issue of The Freeman.

The illustrated lecture given by Dr. W. F. Thomas of New York city proved to be both unique and entertainingly informing. His subject was "Old Camp Sites of the Revolution." Entirely contrary to expectation, the sites chosen for discussion were the unknown sites of British camps, especially in and about New York city and in the Highlands, near West Point.

Having learned that the British chose as their camp sites, wherever possible, spots under a hill which would protect them from the northwest, and near a stream, with a sufficiently level section for a parade ground, these points of identification were borne in mind in hunting for the old sites, which were shown in the pictures. Then there were shown many relics of the Revolutionary war found at these sites, uniform buttons, children's pewter plates, in connection with which it had been learned that where posible the wives and children of the English soldiery accompanied their husbands to the military camps. Old stone fire-places were found, and reconstruction huts. Then there were pictures of the English, French, Hessian and American soldiers and officers in full uniform, and many others equally interesting. The program was arranged by Mrs. Cranston, and at the close of the greatly appreciated lecture, coffee and cake were served the Chapter members and their friends, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. DuMond being the hostesses.

RETENTION OF SUBMARINES CAUSES BRITISH REGRET

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Feb. 2.—"Adoption of the two treaties in the Washington conference, limiting navies and restricting the use of new agencies of warfare, is a great step in world history," was the official comment today at 10 Downing street, the official residence and office of Premier Lloyd-George.

The cabinet held a meeting at which the treaties were discussed.

Great Britain's disappointment over failure to secure the scrapping of submarines, was the outstanding note in press comment.

The Times Chronicle and Westminster Gazette pointed out that the submarine regulations were inadequate. Only the scrapping of submarines, they said, could prevent "hideous warfare" in the future.

It was indicated in official circles that Premier Lloyd-George may hold up the Washington results as a good example to follow at the international economic conference at Genoa. It is believed the premier will initiate a movement at Genoa for the reduction of armies similar to the naval reduction program at Washington.

CRAPSER LEAVES.

Awards Letters and Receives Present From P. H. S. Basketballers.

Poughkeepsie High School and her crack basket ball team have suffered a serious loss in that Mr. Crapser, the school athletic director and coach of the basket ball team has departed for Scranton, Pennsylvania. J. Schuyler Fox, principal of the Poughkeepsie High School said, in paying Mr. Crapser a farewell tribute, "You have blazoned the trails of sport in Poughkeepsie. You have not made only possible here during your three years stay championship teams but also the highly organized sports that now exist everywhere in the city."

Mr. Crapser, performing his last official act as coach of the basket ball team, called to the rostrum the second team to award them letters. Those receiving the second team letters were Gifford, Palshin, Dorney, Atwater, Rutherford, Miller, Harder and Kyle. Then Coach Crapser called to the stage, the entire student body of the high school being assembled, and awarded the Varsity letters to Captain Len Hall, Underhill, Palmer, Bruno, Swenson and Keller.

Captain Hall presented Mr. Crapser with a silver loving cup as a farewell gift from the team. Not to be outdone, Mr. Crapser in turn presented Captain Hall with a ring. Mr. Crapser was given a rousing send-off as the grand finale.

Joe Gunn, the Poughkeepsie High School quarterback of last fall was operated upon for appendicitis at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, last Monday. Reports from the hospital are that he is getting along as well as might be expected.

REAL ESTATE BUSINESS LEADS IN INCORPORATIONS

But Garment Makers Started 202 Firms in January.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 3.—A total of 1,698 companies, with a capitalization of $66,393,550, were incorporated last month as compared to 1,410 with a capitalization of $70,828,795 in January a year ago.

Real estate business still maintains first place with a total of 322, and a capitalization of $9,389,650; garment making companies incorporating numbering 202 with a capitalization of $4,672,500.

There appear to be fewer motion picture companies starting up these days than a year ago, there being but 31 last month and these having a capitalization of only $553,500.

In Ulster county last month, eight companies with a capitalization of $586,000, incorporated.

CALCUTTA AND ALLAHABAD INDIAN UNREST CENTERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Feb. 2.—Indian women students have joined the ranks of the Nationalist agitators in India and inciting the people to fresh disorders, especially in the Calcutta district, according to dispatches received here today from Bombay. The tension at Calcutta and Allahabad has been increased by fresh outbreaks.

The India office announced that the government is considering a course of action against the malcontent followers of Mahatma Gandhi, but that no decision had been reached yet.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, Feb. 3.—Mrs. B. M. Brainard of Railroad avenue attended the Poultry Show at Madison Square Garden, New York city last week.

Hope Lodge, No. 65, Knights of Pythias, will meet in their Convention Hall, this evening.

Alvin Schoonmaker, contractor and builder and his assistants, are building a new house, six rooms and a bath on their lot on Broadway. When this one is finished Mr. Schoonmaker has already plans drawn for another house next to this one. As houses are in great demand in Port Ewen it will be an easy matter to rent or sell. There are also building lots that are very desirable for sale on the back streets. Already Kingston people have rented places in Port Ewen.

Edgar Shultis of Woodstock and Mrs. A. Kohler of Kingston spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. George W. Shultis on Broadway.

The illustrated lecture given in the Methodist Church Thursday evening was very much enjoyed by the few people present. It was too bad more people were not able to attend. Some were detained by the inclemency of the weather and very slippery and treacherous walking. Very palatable refreshments were served in the chapel and the whole affair was a complete success.

Woman's Auxiliary Officers.

At a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Holy Spirit held at the rectory Thursday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Miss Boice; vice president, Mrs. G. N. Woody; secretary, Mrs. W. J. Rand; treasurer, Mrs. Brodock; united offering treasurer, Mrs. E. Purvis.

BUILDING ROAD FAST AS POSSIBLE

Impression Left With Local Committee By Van Wagenen—Repeats Assurances And Says Will Open Road For Memorial Day Rush If Not Quite Finished.

To a committee consisting of President Arthur J. Burns of the Chamber of Commerce and President William J. Turck and Dr. H. F. Meinhardt, secretary of the Automobile Club of Ulster County, Assemblyman Van Wagenen on Thursday evening reiterated the statements in regard to the bridge road made to Secretary Baker of the State Automobile Association and printed in The Freeman on Thursday. Mr. Van Wagenen also gave the additional assurance that even though the surfacing should not be completed, he would suspend work and throw the road open to public use for the three or four days of the Memorial Day rush.

The road is to have a nine-inch sub-base, a two-inch intermeriate course of crushed stone and a three-inch bitumin-bound surface coat. The sub base is completed on part of the road and was laid up to the point at which blasting is in progress. After the excavating is finished sub base laying will be completed as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Surfacing will follow.

The delay has been caused by rock of an extremely refractory nature and in unsuspected quantities which the test pits dug before the contract was awarded did not reveal. Any practical rock man who visits the scene of operations will understand fully conditions that are difficult to make clear to those who know nothing about rock work.

The committee expressed themselves as satisfied that Mr. Van Wagenen is pressing the work forward as rapidly as possible.

CITY USED OVER BILLION GALLONS

Of Water Last Year—Estimated That It Would Form a Lake Covering 400 Acres of Ground.

Kingston residents used 1,642,500,000 gallons of water last year, an average consumption of 4,500,000 gallons daily. It is estimated that if the water used had been impounded it would have formed a lake 10 feet deep covering 400 acres of ground. As Kingston covers 5,567 acres of land it will be seen that the water used would have covered a fourteenth of the city's acreage. Taking the city hall as the central point the lake so formed would extend from Lincoln street to about the center of the Twaalfskill Golf Club links in width, and extend from Elmendorf street to Meadow street in length, forming a square.

Cooper's Lake, which forms part of Kingston's water supply, contains 200,000,000 gallons of water, and covers 80 acres of ground. With the lake and the reservoirs full, Kingston's water supply impounds 625,000,000 gallons of water.

MRS. SUTTON RECOVERING FROM MERCURIAL POISONING

Bessie Sutton who made an attempt to kill herself and her seven year old daughter several days ago by taking mercury tablets is recovering at the Benedictine Hospital where she has been undergoing treatment and it is expected that she will soon be discharged. According to information received Bessie Sutton who was employed by Mrs. David Fairbairn at Bellegrre, in the town of Hardenburgh, took a mercury tablet and gave one to her little daughter. Mrs. Sutton lives somewhere in Pennsylvania and before taking the mercury it was rumored that she had made an attempt to jump into the "forge" a deep hole in the Dry Brook stream. At the time it was thought that she was insane.

What action will later be taken by the authorities is not known at this time. The Ulster county officials were not notified of the occurrence until some time after it had taken place.

WORK THEY ENJOY

Darkeys in Their Element at Cane-Cutting Time.

Busy Scenes Are Those on the Sugar Plantations When the Harvest Is Being Gathered.

"Wake up, you niggers, and git yoah brekfus ready! Wake up and git to work!" rings through the streets of the little town still rapt in slumber, Helene Robbins writes in the New Orleans Times-Picayune. Four o'clock and the crier goes slowly on. The black, foggy night lags in fight as if wondering when the brilliant sun will come to frighten it away. Loudly and more insistently the old man cries the alarm, alternating between a sing-song and a more emphatic call, till gradually one seems to know that life bestirs itself behind the closed doors of the cabins. Here a woman, opening the door, stares at the receding back of the crier, there a man's dark head protrudes from the white curtains in an open window and calls to a friend in the neighboring house. Smoke curls upward from rows of chimneys. The oder of coffee fills the air. Lights gleam in the curtained doorways, and boisterous chatter proclaims the workers preparing for the field.

Soon they stream from the cabins, men and women, young and old: huge sun hats cover the dusky heads. The women's skirts, looped up by the tie-strings about the hips, reach only to the knees, the upper excess of cloth forming a bustle effect of ample proportions. Pipes in mouths, dinner buckets in hand and cane-knives slung over shoulders, the colorful procession of workers wends its way, slip-slop, slip-slop, through the streets, into dusty roadways and on to the cane-field destination. Children, too, accompany it, to play with the chanty children on the plantation grounds. Or left to themselves at home they grasp their chance of uninterrupted squabble and play with happy hearts.

Now in the fields, the slashing of the tall cane stalks forms an accompaniment for the songs and chatter of the negroes. The overseer as he rides by, stopping his slow-moving horse for a moment to survey the fields of workers, sees bended backs, hears the calls to one another or the now almost breathless songs, and smiles a bit, for he enjoys the cane-cutting harvest as much as they. And truly the negroes enjoy it, that camaraderie especially, and the opportunity to exchange the sawmill jobs at $2 and $3 a day for $1.50 and a full day's work in the field. They cut as they say, "from kin to cain't," from the time when they can see till the time when they can't, and they enjoy it.

But the negroes are not the only ones who enjoy the cane cutting and grinding season. The boys of the neighborhood are in the element. When armed with a stout knife they battle against the huge ever-revolving carrier that hauls the stalks up into the mill and out of their reach. Better and sweeter still is the cane chewed on the sly in the solitary midst of a waving cane field, or "swiped" from loaded freight cars in the early morning, one eye "peeled for the watchman," the other on the lookout against wormy cane. How torturing are the after-hours spent at school for lesson failure or for "teasing the girls," when the other fellows are out in the cane fields or at the mill! And when knives are forfeited for a period, for cutting desks instead of cane, how cruel to them is the punishment! Sugar cane season is indeed a school season of cutting and squirming.

One can imagine, for hours at a time, the scenes taking place in the fields or in the mill, but cares and duties call and the fascinating plantation view must be left for fall housecleaning, or garden-making, or business, until the bell calls once again.

In the meantime, negroes bend to their task in the fields, the great mouth of the derrick hauls the cane into the carrier, boys and girls chew cane, and life on the plantation, a midget world in itself, goes along in humdrum, everyday fashion.

The Swiss Are Thrifty.

The British seaboard saves the postmaster general from a great deal of the competition which is robbing the Swiss post office of revenue, remarks the "Under the Clock" columnist of the London (England) Daily News. I saw the other day a post card addressed to Geneva by a Swiss business man living near the Austrian border. The card bore Austrian stamps to the value of seven crowns, and had been posted at Feldkirch. A post card from one point to another in Switzerland costs ten centimes, but for ten centimes a Swiss can buy a hundred Austrian Inlandskronen, with which he could, by posting from the other side of the frontier, send into Switzerland fourteen post cards and have still two crowns in hand.

Fur Bearers Vanish.

The muskrat, formerly held in small esteem, is today recognized as the most important of American fur-bearing animals. Its pelt, having become fashionable, commands an ever-increasing price.

Thereby the pursuit of the little beast has been stimulated, with the result that its numbers nearly everywhere are rapidly diminishing.

Trappers in the state of Wisconsin took more than 300,000 muskrats in 1917. In 1918 they took fewer than 200,000, and in 1919 only about 100,000.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CORN FIELDS IN THE ALPS

Traveler, Speaking Rhaetoroman Region That Is Not Ordinarily Visited by the Tourist.

Europe's highest corn fields are perched well over 5,000 feet high in the Grisons, where the peasants still speak the old Romansch dialect, a survival of the lingua rustica of the Roman empire. It is a region of barren seeming, despite its wealth of bright Alpine flowers, where the struggle with the land for existence is keen and persistent, writes M. J. Lands.

I had ascended in the motor diligence on one of the few wet days of this remarkable summer. At the summit of the Oberalp pass, nearly 7,000 feet above sea level, beyond a number trout lake, a cloaked figure with peak cowl and long wand held up its hand.

It looked like a Familiar of the Inquisition summoning the modern invader to some ancient rite in a monastery hidden in the mountain fastnesses, but as the car obeyed the command, the figure uncowled and revealed itself as a road-mender in enveloping mackintosh. His "wand" was a long-handled spade, and he merely wanted a lift to another pitch to continue his lonely labors.

Then came the corn fields. The grain had been cut and was stacked horizontally on tall, narrow frames that looked like race-course indicators. The corn just consents to grow, but refuses to ripen, and it has to be laid on the shelves of these roofed frames to be dried and ripened.

The Rhine is born here—in a little green lake, 7,000 feet high, sequestered amid enormous rock precipices—and continues a turbulent course for some time through ravines and weird gray gorges that might be relics of the Stone age.

Motors are a novelty yet. Cows occasionally contested the right of way; now and again a child fled screaming, while others sat stolidly under umbrellas to watch the yellow monster scurry past. Soon the motor will be supplanted, for a railway has already been commenced, but it will have a steeper gradient than the highway.

The line has a derelict appearance; it is thickly overgrown with weeds all along the route. It has not been used yet, the war interfered with the work. But completed it will be, to form a link between the Engadine on the one hand and the Bernese Oberland and the Rhone valley on the other.

Connecting the sources of the Rhone and the Rhine, it may be an omen of the linking up of the nations.

Old Campaign Button.

In the Globe recently there were published pictures and a brief description of a campaign button used during the campaign of Abraham Lincoln and Hannibal Hamlin for the land's two highest offices in 1860.

A. P. Curtis of Fitchburg saw the item and mailed to the Globe a similar button used by Lincoln's opponents, Stephen A. Douglas and Herschel V. Johnson. The brass buttons are identical except for the tintypes which they contain.

Mr. Curtis received the Douglas-Johnson button from his father, who in turn received it from his father. Mr. Curtis doubts whether the coin-like campaign badge was used as a charm, and points out that the ribbon attached to the Johnson-Douglas button (which he says is the original ribbon) indicates that the brass buttons were suspended from the coat lapel buttonholes by means of the short ribbons.—Boston Globe.

Wave Motor.

A motor, or power producer, operated by the waves of the sea has been tried in England. It resembles a great steel buoy. A long, hollow spindle is maintained in a vertical position. Near its lower end is a platform which, being far below the surface of the water, tends to resist any vertical displacement. An annular float surrounds the spindle and rises and falls with the waves. Thus a pump-like action is produced between the moving float and the relatively stationary spindle, and this is utilized to produce power. In one experiment a stream of water was thrown across a ship's deck. It is proposed to mount a complete electric plant upon such a wave-motor, and have the dynamo driven by the same, so as to supply an electric lamp. This would give a self-supplying lighted buoy.

The Periscope.

Under this name the Commandant Soulie de Cenac of the French Legion of Honor has designed a pince-nez, or eyeglass, which enables the wearer to see at the same time on all sides, and even behind. This is ingeniously effected by means of reflections. At the same time the glasses are so constructed as to correct myopia and other errors of vision. A use for the instrument that the inventor did not think of has been revealed to him by deaf persons employing it. They say that it increases their safety by enabling them to perceive the approach of dangers.

Joyful Reunion.

While I was in service I loaned a buddy in our company 100 francs, which at that time amounted to almost $20.

Recently as I was touring the loop buying Christmas presents we met. We hardly got through greeting each other when he handed me $25. This amount, he claimed, was due me, including interest. I never expected to see him or the money any more, since he was sent to the hospital to be operated on while I was still in France.—Chicago Journal.

HURLEY.

Hurley, Feb. 1.—The Ladies' Missionary Society held a quilting bee in the basement of the village church on Wednesday afternoon. There was a goodly attendance and the bee was a remarkable success for both work accomplished and for the social opportunity. The society voted to enlarge the kitchen. This is much needed, as everyone who has had to work in the present kitchen's cramped narrow quarters will rejoice at the enlargement. This extension will be made to the east of the present room, toward the street. Work has already been started under the direction of T. D. Hotaling.

The meeting to talk over the community center for the village took place in the town hall on Thursday evening, January 26. The Rev. Mr. French, who has taken hold of the matter earnestly and worked it up, had charge of the meeting and explained its purpose. There was quite an audience and during the evening some discussion. There is some talk that the Markle plot south of the church may be utilized for the purpose. A committee on organization was appointed consisting of the following members: Messrs. Woolsey, Abram Elmendorf, M. T. E. DeWitt, French and Mr. Brown of Marbletown. A committee on plans and costs was also appointed, consisting of Messrs. Freer, Hiller and T. D. Hotaling.

A most little entertainment given in the Binnewater chapel on Tuesday evening was the occasion of a sleighride from this village. The party had, of course, a jolly good time in every way. The entertainment besides being interesting was unique in that your entrance fee was an amount equal to your waist measure. Cute little aprons, provided with little pockets, were passed around for the amount to be placed in the pocket. This was an amusing feature. Cake and ice cream finished up a pleasant evening. The following people went from this village. Mr. and Mrs. Earle, Miss Lucille Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. DuMond and Miss Mina Nalcolm, Mr. and Mrs. Ten Eyck, Master Roger Ten Eyck, the Rev. and Mrs. French, Mrs. DuBois, Miss Brown, Leonard Lockwood, Charles Lockwood, Miss Hilda Lockwood, Mrs. Ostrander, Mr. and Mrs. Freer, Miss Inez Freer, Miss Anna Osterhoudt, Miss Katharine Dunn, Mrs. Thielpape and Miss Jennie Thielpape, the Misses Alice, Lucilla, Imbel Joy and Master Lester Joy.

Miss Eva Hiller is spending the season in the Bermudas.

Wessels Ten Eyck, Ernest Myer, Theodore Thielpape and Winfred Snyder attended the special meeting at the Y. M. C. A. in Kingston on Tuesday evening.

PINE GROVE.

ARMS CONFERENCE ENDS TOMORROW

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 3.—A plenary session of the armament conference tomorrow, to close up the work of the three months' parley, was called today by Secretary of State Hughes.

SOCIETY NOTES

The engagement has been announced of Mary Agusta Gerow of Plattekill to Dr. Charles L. Johnston of Brooklyn.

The third Assembly dance will be held at St. Mary's Hall on the evening of Friday, February 17th. The committee having these delightful social events in charge is as follows: Mrs. Francis J. Higginson, Mrs. Everett Fowler, Mrs. Harold King, Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker and Mrs. George F. Chandler.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leninger, No. 42 Furnace street, in honor of Mrs. Leninger's birthday. Games, dancing and victrola selections were indulged in and at 11 o'clock a dainty supper was served. The feature of the evening was an exhibition dance by Mrs. Kelly and Mr. Bernard. Those present were Mrs. L. Anderson and daughters, Emily and Jeanette, Mrs. A. Kelly, Miss Alice Rappelea, Messrs John Bernard and Henry Spardie. All left voting Mrs Leninger a royal entertainer.

Atharhacton Club.

The Atharhacton Club met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Ruth Shafer on Albany avenue. Miss Shafer had the paper for the day and gave a delightful as well as informing presentation of an interesting subject, "Letters of Lefkadio Hearn." Next week the club will meet with Miss Van Hoesenberg at her home on Wall street, when the afternoon will be given over to a discussion of next year's program.

Finan-Fitzpatrick.

George H. Finan and Miss Loretta Fitzpatrick were married Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Church of St. John the Baptist, Brooklyn, N. Y., the Rev. J. J. Cloonan, officiating. The attendants were Eugene J. Finan, brother of the groom and Miss Agnes Wintermeyer. After a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, the couple will reside at 518 Jefferson avenue, Brooklyn. The groom is formerly of this city and has a host of friends who wish them a long and happy wedded life.

MAY REGISTER AS NURSING STUDENTS BEFORE LECTURE

Because many people who have tickets for, or expect to attend the Bishop Quayle Lecture on Lincoln at the high school Monday evening, may also wish to join the class in first aid nursing to be held at the high school as a preventive measure in case of flu visiting Kingston, The Freeman has been asked to state that it will be possible to do both things. Those attending the lecture may first go to Room 2, to the right of the entrance on the first floor and register for membership in the nursing class. While a little instruction will be given Monday evening, the time will be largly devoted to registration, and it is hoped that there will be a large number who will take up this course.

SAUGERTIES QUINTET TO PLAY NEWARK HACS

The Saugerties A. C. basketball team will play the Newark Hacs at the Orpheum, Saugerties, Monday evening.

The Hacs are a strong combination, composed of a number of New York state league players and college stars. The Saugerties team have three Kingston boys, Murray, Dolson and Johnson, in their lineup.

"The Hudson" Sold to Hulings.

The Elizabeth Schonmaker estate represented by F. E. W. Darrow have sold through the Shafermick Realty Company the large rooming house, No. 3 North Front street, known as The Hudson, to Ray G. Huling and wife. Mr. Huling is the well-known exhibitor of trained seals and is now playing an engagement at Proctor's Theatre, Troy. It is understood that The Hudson will remain under the management of Mrs. Abram S. Mould, who for some years has conducted a rooming house there very successfully, she being the mother of Mrs. Hulings. The same parties have sold the large frame dwelling at 336 Clinton avenue to John L. Richards.

St. James's Men's Club.

The members of the Men's Club of St. James's Methodist Episcopal Church are to attend the evening service in that church on Sunday night. Every man is asked to be in the church parlor at 7:15 that all may go into the service in a body. Dr Garagwanath will deliver a special and appropriate sermon. There will be unique music.

Henkel Memorial Service.

Following the German services Sunday morning at the Livingston Street Lutheran Church a brief memorial service for the Rev. C. A. Henkel who served the congregation for nineteen years, will be held.

Highland Bank's New Home.

The Highland National Bank at Highland will soon begin the construction of a new home on the site now occupied by the Odd Fellows building in Central Square, that village. It is said that the new structure will cost about $30,000.

The Kitchen Collapsed.

Thursday night the building in the rear of the Mansion House that was used for the kitchen when the hotel was in operation, collapsed. The kitchen was a one story building and was not used in late years.

Vacuum-Made Films.

At a meeting of the Academy of Sciences in Paris Professor Houllevigue described a method of producing thin metallic films by volatilization in a vacuum. The metal to be deposited is first disposed in a layer on a platinum wire, which is then heated in a high vacuum. The film forms on a plate of glass, which is kept in reaction near the heated wire. In this manner, it is said, thin films have been produced of gold, silver, platinum iron, copper, zinc, tin and cadmium.

World-Wide Rest Day.

The first international conference at Washington in 1919, discussing hours of labor, sought to limit them to forty-eight hours in the week and eight in the day. In preparation for the third annual session of the conference at Geneva there has been sent out to the governments represented in the league of nations a questionnaire as to the possibility of a world-wide weekly rest day for workers in industry and commerce.

Ancient Shark.

Off the coast of Norway not long ago was captured a specimen of the shark tribe, which, in the form of its teeth and in other characteristic features, closely resembles a species of shark that inhabited the ocean in that immeasurably remote period called in geology the Devonian age. A similar shark was captured by the prince of Monaco's yacht off the Madeira islands, in 1889. These two specimens, with a few others found in the Japanese seas, which are remarkable for the number of survivals of ancient forms of life that they contain, constitute the only known representatives now on the earth of the Devonian sharks.

Monarch's Mummy Finally at Rest.

The mummy of the celebrated Egyptian king, Rameses II, reposes in the Egyptian museum in Cairo. The mummy was first interred at Bibanet-Muluk and was subsequently concealed from grave robbers in the shaft at Deir-el-Bebri, where it was found in 1881, and later removed to the museum mentioned.

The Island of Guam.

The Island of Guam, ceded to the United States by Spain in 1898, is 5,044 miles from San Francisco and 1,506 from Manila. It is 30 miles long and 100 around and has a population of 13,000.

Imperfections Have Use.

Trapped.

Frosh—"I want a leave of absence for over the week-end to visit my sister in New York." Dean (quickly)—"How long have you known her?" Frosh—"About two weeks."—Cornell Widow.

If President-Elect Should Die.

If the successful candidate for President or Vice-president should die before the second Monday in January after an election, the electors would be empowered, under the law, to vote according to their judgment. This contingency has never arisen. No President-elect has ever died. If a President-elect should die between the second Monday in January and inauguration day the electoral college would not be reconvened, but the house of representatives would have to bear the responsibility.

Disastrous.

"How did it work out?"

"The butcher got frightened and shut off my credit."—New York Sun.

Crowding Father Time.

Squaring the Circles.

It is not bad fun to ask an irritable person to construct a perfect square with four pennies. Probably he will make what he calls a "square" with them by placing them flat on the table with their edges touching, when you point out at once that this is not a true square. Having made the irritable person very peevish, explain to him how the square is made by placing the coins so that the lines about the date on each penny join. You may conclude by offering to let him eat the "dates" on the pennies.—Tit-Bits.

Becomes Matter of Habit.

Thinking is a habit and at the time we are in the habit of thinking we think best. Children, for instance, think best in the hours when they are in school, because that is the time that they are accustomed to do their thinking. Writers and philosophers think best at the time they have daily set aside for thinking: newspaper men on an afternoon paper think best in the morning, and those on a morning paper think best at night. There can be no set time for best thinking, no rule to go by.

Crop insurance is now proposed, and one would think it ought to be as practicable as burglar insurance, the rates of which have just gone up 50 per cent in Chicago. The companies could insure against drought but not against indolent neglect.

Recently Bernard Shaw was asked to imagine himself the Noah of another flood and say what five men of this modern world he would save. Shaw declined to name the other four and seemed to entertain doubt as to whether even he deserved to be saved out of this world of vanity when he replied: "I would let everybody drown."

The W. C. T. U. of Chicago proposes that a blue flag with a white star be hung in the windows of all homes where no one ever touches a drop of the forbidden fluid. Aside from the public parade of virtue involved, there is the practical objection that such flags would inevitably be employed to protect well-stocked cellars or home breweries.

Captain Edward Fogg, commander of a Boston fishing schooner, declares that in the course of a cruise just completed four of his men were washed overboard by a mighty wave and that three of them were brought back on board unharmed by the returning rush of water. Writers of sea romances have not ventured to give such an experience to more than one sailor at a time, fearing a too great strain upon credulity even then. Truth—if Captain Fogg is not merely yarning—is stiffer than fiction.

In the war memorial room at Princeton a tribute to 62 students of that university who died in the Civil War has been carved on a marble panel. Thirty-one of these men served in the Union army and thirty-one in the Confederate army, but, in significant disregard of the old dividing lines, these two sets of Princeton men are not grouped apart. In the memorial now erected by their alma mater the names appear alphabetically, without further distinction.

The Inter-allied Commission on War Criminals complains of the farcical trials at Leipsic of a very few out of about a thousand accused, and tardily suggests that Germany be required to surrender the others for trial in an Allied country. If there was ever a real intention of making this demand, it should have been done before the allied armies disarmed. It is rather late to go about it now when the Allies are failing to agree about more important matters.

TRIBUTE TO NATIONAL GUARD.

Further evidence of the preeminence of the National Guard of the State of New York, and convincing affirmation of the beneficial results of Adjutant General J. Leslie Kincaid's constructive military policy are furnished by the fact that the fighting Twenty-seventh, one of the World War's most famous fighting units, is the first National Guard Division in the United States to receive the recognition of the Federal Government and to be put under the direct call and control of the president.

Citizens of the great State of New York may well view with pride and approbation the accomplishment of her world famous fighting machine which was so instrumental in smashing the Hindenburg Line and in making forever safe the ideals of America. Every state in the Union made a whole-hearted effort to have one of her divisions the first to be federalized and the first to bear the stamp of government approval. The race for national honors was so close that for several days it was a matter of uncertainty as to whether the Twenty-eighth, Pennsylvania Division, or our own Twenty-seventh was the victor. A terse statement from the War Department conveyed the news that New York won the laurels and was showing in her military program the same sagacity and patriotic interest which went so far toward winning the war.

The federalization of the Twenty-seventh, in the opinion of General Kincaid, will not only give the National Guard of the State of New York a division which by all odds is the most effective organization of its kind in the country, but will also tend to inspire a feeling of greater loyalty and greater patriotism among the personnel of every outfit in the state.

The great work of federalization as demanded by the National Defense Act, whose clauses guide the future military policies of America, is an effort inspired in Washington to put the National Guard of the several states upon a sound business basis. The enthusiasm shown from coast to coast by competing units is convincing evidence that the lessons of the great war have not been cast aside and that the greatest nation on earth will never again enter into a struggle upon which the future of civilization depends without proper preparation.

3. Does the sea serpent exist?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Is there such a thing as a mermaid?

Only in the shops of curio manufacturers! In China they make for sale small mermaids by fastening the heads and torso of a monkey to the body and tail of a fish. The creatures that originated the sailor yarns of mermaids are sea lions, dugongs, manatees, all marine mammals. Seen at a distance, half-raised out of the water, there is a slight resemblance to a human form, but at closer inspection they are far from the beauty of the pictured mermaid with flowing locks.

2. Do barn pigeons ever alight on a fence?

"Ever" is a large word. There is nothing to prevent their so alighting, as they have a foot capable of grasping a perch. We believe that habitually they do not choose a narrow perch, but one broad enough to walk on, like the ridge of a barn, broad edge of a roof-gutter, etc. If a fence had a board or pole etc., top, they might easily choose it.

3. Why do some fishes have more bones than others?

Because some species have more vertebrae than others. The morphigally developed kinds have fewer vertebrae, this character varying all the way from 16 to 400 bones in the spinal column. Along a certain distance of the spine, down to the anal fin, each vertebra bears two sideways bones, or ribs; and one dorsal, or toward-the-back small outgrowing bone. The more segments there are in the spine, the more of these small bones there will be.

HOME-SEEKERS' SHARES GO BIG; OVER 400 SHARES SUBSCRIBED

The new series of shares of the Home-Seekers' Co-operative Savings & Loan Association, which is now open for subscription, bids fair to eclipse all previous series in the number of shares issued. Over 400 shares have already been subscribed for and applications are coming in constantly.

The number of shares that may be issued in a series is unlimited, and there is no danger of there not being enough shares for all who wish to subscribe, but the officials of the association recommend that persons wishing to make application do so at the earliest opportunity.

Shares of the association are issued on the installment plan. A deposit of $1.00 must be made on each share monthly and dividends are added to the value of the shares annually. For the last seven years dividends have been at the rate of six per cent. The shares are matured, and payable when they reach the valuation of $200, which happens in approximately 140 months. The association has already matured twenty-one series, and the twenty-second will mature in March of this year.

Practically all of the funds of the association are loaned to the members for the purpose of buying or building homes and re-payment is made by the borrower in monthly installments about equal in amount to the rental value of the property. The association is under the jurisdiction of the state banking department, and is subject to the same regulations and restrictions as savings banks.

N. Y. "FLU" SLOW IN COMING NORTH

State Health Authorities On Guard Final Form of Disease Lighter Than in 1918—Vaccines Not of Proven Value In Pneumonia.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 3.—Although New York city is experiencing an outbreak of pneumonia and influenza there appears to be as yet no unusual prevalence of these diseases up-state, according to the reports reaching the state department of health. Kingston was one of the cities reporting no noticeable increase in influenza or pneumonia deaths the past week.

It is true, however, that the reports from New York city show a considerable recent increase both in cases reported as influenza, and in cases and deaths from pneumonia. Past experience shows that any marked increase of these diseases in New York city is likely to be followed within a short time by similar outbreaks in upstate communities. The department is therefore making every possible effort to obtain early information as to the character and intensity of any outbreak of influenza which may occur this winter. So far the indications are reassuring.

The United States Public Health Service, which receives regular reports from foreign countries, has recently been advised by cable from the government health authorities of England that influenza is prevalent in several parts of that country and it is extending. The type of the disease is much milder than in 1918, and broncho-pneumonia is the chief complication.

The reports from New York city would seem to indicate that much the same type of influenza is now prevalent in that city. In the opinion of Dr. Herman M. Biggs, state commissioner of health, this type is considerably milder than that of 1918 while the pneumonia cases which frequently follow upon the influenza, show a noticeably lower percentage of deaths.

In the view of the state health department a convincing case has not yet been made out for the use of vaccines for the prevention of pneumonia.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Dress for the Smart Girl.

Pattern 3723 was used to make this design. It is cut in 4 sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. An 8 year size requires 3¾ yards of 27 inch material.

Dotted Swiss, percale, seersucker, gingham, chambray, poplin, pongee, voile, batiste, embroideries, gabardine, chaille and silk could be used for this model. The sleeve may be in wrist or elbow length.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

SAW PHONE AS PLAYTHING

President of Boston Bank Resented An Installation Into His Institution and Ordered It Out.

E. T. Holmes of Boston, who was the first man to establish a telephone exchange, in his interesting book "A Wonderful Fifty Years," tells of an incident that occurred when he was trying to make the telephone known to the business men of Boston. He says:

"One of the most amusing experiences I had at this time occurred a few days later. One afternoon they sent me another telephone and after thinking where I would put it, decided to place it in the Revere bank. After banking hours were over and nearly every one had left the bank, I took a man with me and we went over and connected up. Our burglar alarm department carried keys to all of our banks. Until this time every one had been greatly pleased to be selected as a telephone station, but the following morning a messenger from the Revere bank brought word that the president would like to see me.

"I hastened down there expecting to receive the thanks of the president; instead, in a much injured tone, he said:

"'Mr. Holmes, what is that play toy you have taken the liberty of putting up out there in my banking room?'

"'That, Mr. Walley, is what they are going to call a telephone,' I said.

"'What's a telephone?' he replied.

"'Well, Mr. Walley, you can ring the bell in my office giving a certain signal, and throw a switch and you can say to my office that you would like to talk with Mr. Ripley at the Hide & Leather, or Mr. Beyon at the Exchange bank, and we will quickly signal them and tell them that Mr. Walley would like to talk with them; and you will immediately be able to talk with them.'

"Mr. Walley simply gave a grunt and quickly said:

"'Mr. Holmes, you take that plaything out of my bank and don't ever take such liberties again.'

"The plaything was quickly removed and the Revere bank went on record as the first telephone disconnection."

How They Feel.

Tall men are constantly questioned by other persons as to "how it feels to be so tall." The correct answers came out recently in a conversation between men of various statures. They were foregathered to partake of the sirenical subtleties of tobacco, but before many clouds of smoke and words had penetrated space the inevitable query was spoken by a Lilliputian:

"Say, how does it feel to be so tall?"

Two of the giants smiled and the third was about to commit such a stereotyped reply as "It's convenient at parades. I can see over the heads of the people in front of me." But he didn't.

"Although I'm six feet three inches in height I never feel any taller than the people I am with," he said. "This probably seems strange to you, and it does to me, for I never thought of it before. I am conscious of being a giant only when I am among giants, and not always then unless somebody calls my attention to it. When I am among people about 5½ feet tall that's how high, or rather low, I feel." The other giants agreed with the interpretation.

Turns of Fortune's Wheel.

The other afternoon, says Paris Figaro, a Russian admiral saw in a taxicab a gallant general of the heroic hours of the war, and on the open boulevard embraced him and gave him the kiss of peace.

Another even more touching scene occurred in a modest restaurant of the left shore where the "students who study" meet.

At a table three Polish women students were installed. A waitress of rather advanced age drew near; despite her humble dress she had a lofty air. The students looked at her attentively, and suddenly one of them rose, knelt down and kissed the edge of her apron. This servant had formerly been a lady of honor at a court that was wrecked in the most awful drama of contemporary history.

Bunyan Opposed to Kissing.

John Bunyan is the first recorded opponent of the kiss. Here is what the famous Puritan wrote many moons ago: "The common salutation of women I abhor. It is odious to me in whomever I see it. When I have seen good men salute those women whom they have visited and that have visited them, I have made my objections against it, and they have answered me it was but a piece of civility. I told them it was not a comely sight. Some, indeed, have urged the holy kiss, but then I have asked them why they have made balks. Why did they salute the most handsome and let the ill-favored ones go?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Foreign Birds Brought In.

A total of 66,798 canaries were imported into the United States during the past fiscal year under permits issued by the biological survey, United States Department of Agriculture. The number of permits issued during the year authorizing the importation of foreign birds and animals increased more than 20 per cent, or from 458 to 560.

Quite Sufficient.

"There are two sides to every question," said the ready-made philosopher.

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum. "And sometimes it's a hard piece of work to get from one side to the other when a situation required. I'm glad there are no more than two."

The Start of Divorce.

The most primitive people held that a husband could repudiate his wife at will. This was gradually modified till separations could be obtained for cause. The hearing of cases came to be a function of the courts.

BEARS

"A good many of the different animals from India have wanted to tell their stories lately," said Daddy. "They have all been animals who have since been brought to the zoo to live.

"Now the Bears should tell their stories.

"Not the Bears who live in this country, nor the Polar bears from far in the North, but the Bears from India also want their stories known.

"'Shall I talk first?' asked the Sloth Bear.

"'You've talked before,' said the Malay Sun Bear. 'They know your story.'

"'Let me tell it again,' said the Sloth Bear, 'for there may be some who didn't hear of what I had to say the first time.'

"'Oh, very well,' said the Malay Sun Bear. 'It is not because I want to hear it but because I don't feel like talking now.

"'I'll talk later when I feel more like it. At present I want to rest.'

"I suppose you don't answer me any more angrily than you do because you feel sleepy, for it surely isn't because you feel friendly that you answer me so mildly.'

"Queer Looking Candy Things."

"'I don't feel pleasant and I don't intend to,' said the Malay Sun Bear. 'I would kill you if I got the chance.'

"'I'm mighty glad you won't get the chance,' said the Sloth Bear. But the Malay Sun Bear had gone to sleep so he didn't answer.

"'Ah, now I have an excellent chance to tell my story,' said the Sloth Bear.

"'Of course, friends, I am also known as as the Long-Lipped Bear.

"'If you're good at guessing you can guess why I have such a name. I have long lips. Yes, that is the answer.

"'Ah, such fine long lips as I have. I suck in my food through my fine long lips, just as children who come to the zoo suck queer looking candy things that come on sticks.

"'I don't mean that the children come on sticks. No, I don't mean that.

"'But the candy comes on sticks. That is what I mean. I have long lips, though, and the children haven't. They don't suck because it is the best way to get their candy but merely because it lasts longer that way than any other way.

"'I am quite a curious looking creature. My hair is very, very long.

"'My claws are terrifically long. I can't think of a long enough word to use to describe my claws. Surely long claws should have long words to describe them.

"'My nose and mouth are light in color and the rest of me is very dark.

"'I do not complain here in the zoo. I do not mind it now that it is cold and the snow is on the ground and the water outside freezes into ice.

"'I do not complain. The climate I came from is very different, but I do not talk about my home climate all the time the way I've heard some creatures do.'

"'Here, here,' said the Malay Sun Bear, waking up from his nap, 'have you been talking all this time?'

"'You've been asleep,' said the Long-Lipped or Sloth Bear.

"'Even if I have,' said the Malay Sun Bear, 'you shouldn't have talked so long.

"You had no business to talk as you did. You're a queer creature and I can tell you I hate you. I hate the keeper too. I hate everyone. I am just as cross as cross can be.

"'If I had my way about it I'd not have any world at all. I'd bite every one in the world and myself too. I don't like myself, not a bit of it!'

"'I don't see how you can be happy with yourself when you are so cross,' said the Sloth Bear. 'And I've seen you bite your black hair out as if you hated it too.'

"'I hate everything,' said the Malay Sun Bear, 'and that is the sort of a creature I am.

"'I don't even care if no one is interested in my story, for I hate everyone, you see.'"

Aim Was Too Good.

"Who threw that eraser at me?" howled the teacher, as he glared at the section reserved for little boys.

"Please, teacher," said the worst of the lot, "why don't you look over at the girls' side?"

"The eraser didn't come from that part of the room, sir. It grazed my head."

GOOD FOOD FOR THE FAMILY

Those who like a hot dish will enjoy the following. If well made and cooked a long time, the flavor is excellent:

Chili Con Carne.—Take one-half pound of fresh lean and fat pork, one and one half pounds of round steak; put through the meat grinder. Brown three good-sized onions sliced, add the meat, one dried chili pepper, two quarts of tomato, salt, pepper, two to three tablespoonfuls of chili powder, and cook for two or three hours slowly, then add two cans of kidney beans, and let the whole stand to cook another half hour. Serve hot.

Sour Cream Pie.—Take one cupful each of sugar and chopped raisins, one-half cupful of sour cream one egg well beaten one-fourth of a teaspoonful each of cinnamon, and cloves one tablespoonful of flour. Cook all together. Cool and bake with two crusts.

Almond Horseradish Sauce.—Blanch and chop fine 24 Jordan almonds. Press the vinegar from four tablespoonfuls of horseradish, season with salt and cayenne and add to it the almonds and two tablespoonfuls of thick sweet cream. Mix well and serve with fish.

Luncheon Macaroni.—Cook three-fourths of a cupful of macaroni broken into inch lengths in boiling salted water until tender, drain, rinse in cold water and drain again. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter; cook in this a slice each of onion and carrot until somewhat softened then remove the vegetables, add two tablespoonfuls of flour, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and a dash of pepper; cook until frothy then add one half cupful each of beef broth and tomato puree, a full cupful of either or half-cupful of each; stir and cook until boiling, add the macaroni and one half cupful of grated cheese, then with two forks mix the macaroni and cheese with the sauce. Cover and let stand over hot wate for a few minutes. Serve very hot. If one desires, a cupful of chopped ham may be used with or in place of the cheese.

The Shapes of Eggs.

An expert recently entertained the Zoological society of London with a mathematical discussion of the differences in the shape of eggs. A few eggs, like those of the owl and the tortoise, are spherical or nearly so, a few, like the grebe's or the cormorant's are, elliptical, with symmetrical ends; the great majority, like the hen's, are ovoid, or blunter at one end than at the other.

The hen's eggs are always laid blunt end foremost. Eggs which are the most unsymmetrical are also eggs of large size relatively to the parent birds. The yolks of eggs are spherical, whatever the form of the entire egg may be. This is shown to be due to their being enclosed in a fluid, the "white," which makes the pressure everywhere on the surface of the yolk practically constant.

Safety First.

Knight—Oh, bother! This is my day off. Why don't you go and save her yourself?

Varlet—She is my wife, sir knight, and she refuses to allow me to engage in so perilous an emprise.—Punch.

Inexpensive Palm.

A pretty, inexpensive palm can be grown from one or two seeds of a common dried date. The soil should be rich and the plant should be well watered.

Yeast Vitamon Tablets Greatest Beauty Secret

Thin or run-down folks who want to quickly get some good, firm, solid flesh on their bones, fill out the hollows and sunken cheeks with strong, healthy tissues and build up increased energy and vitality should try taking two of Mastin's tiny yeast VITAMON Tablets with their meals. Mastin's VITAMON Tablets contain highly concentrated yeast vitamines as well as the two other still more important vitamines (Fat soluble A and Water soluble C), all of which Science says you must have to be strong, well and fully developed. They banish pimples, boils and skin eruptions as if by magic, strengthen the nerves, build up the body with firm flesh and tissue and often completely rejuvenate the whole system. You run no risk of causing gas or upsetting the stomach.

If you are thin, pale, haggard, drawn looking or lack energy and endurance take Mastin's VITAMON—two tablets with every meal.

IMPORTANT! While the remarkable health-building value of Mastin's VITAMON Tablets have been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, nervous troubles, anemia, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, they should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having their weight increased to normal. Do not accept imitations or substitutes. You can get Mastin's VITAMON Tablets at all good druggists.

BEATING OLD AGE

Cash Miller Has a Scheme That Really Appeals.

Pass an Amendment Prohibiting Birthdays, He Says, and the Rest Is a Simple Matter.

"I see a lot of dope in the papers lately about people livin' to a ripe old age," observed Cash Miller of the main cigar store as he submitted a handful of tempting Havanas for the approval of the Old Customer, says Thrift.

"Yes, I believe the tendency of the times is upward a longer span of human life," replied the Old Customer gravely.

"Seems surprisin'," continued Cash, "how many people there are in this country today that knowed Washington. I was readin' 'bout one gay young blade out in Kentucky who says he's forgot whether he's 120 on the 20th or 130 on the 30th, but anyhow, he says, I feel jest as young as I ever did, if not more so, and my only physical defect, he says, is dandruff."

"An' there's another one in Missouri that started his present remarkable output of whiskers when the kerosene lamp was considered more or less of a doubtful experiment, an' he says he ain't lost a night's sleep since the election of Andy Jackson, exceptin' when he was teethin' fer the third time. An' up in New England there's another one of these here boy wonders jest roundin' into the full glory of his 124th year. Expects to begin shavin' an' git into long pants before long now. Says he's smoked all his life an' saved the coupons, and from the way he's feelin' now he's plannin' to turn 'em in fer a veelocypede. An' there's a lady down South some'ers that I see claims her favorite outdoor sport is raisin' century plants an' the first hundred years she says is the hardest, an' she ain't seen a sick day since she was in her first teens.

"They're a lot more I see referred to in supprised accents by the papers, with pictures and a complete confession of how they done it. But the big hero of 'em all, the guy that makes the oldest inhabitant today look like a babe in arms cryin' fer papa's mustache, was the late Mr. Methuselah, author of darling I am growin' old.

"Accordin' to my line of dope the main thing most of the people in the world is tryin' to do today is beat the record hung up by him."

"Well, I think there's an element of truth in what you say," admitted the old Customer.

"Listen. We're all tryin' to beat the old-age game. Why are so many women havin' their hair amputated at the second joint, and show-casin' themselves in dresses that's goin' to make the next generation resort to the use of stilts fer to hold onto mamma's skirts? Ah' why do we see so many members of the sterner sex suddenly break out in high-school scenery an' almost natural hair dye? Yes, everybody wants to be Methusaleh the Second, an' they's only one way to do it."

"How's that?"

"Have them birds in congress pass a amendment prohibitin' all birthdays after the first. Now, if I ain't got no way of knowin' how old I am, I'm jest as young as I kid myself an' the world into believin' I am. An' I'm tellin' you, Percival, that I'm goin' to keep right on heln' as much like a whoopin' infant as I kin git away with till at last my turn comes to git flattened out by a motor truck. Cut out birthdays an' every man's as young as every other man, an' every woman's younger than every other woman. It's the system all humanity's heln' cryin' fer like a thief in the night."

VARYING IDEAS OF BEAUTY

The Wanderer and the Young American were smoking their cigarettes in the congenial silence that in man is a sign of good friendship. They ambled for a few blocks without speaking, until the sight of a girl crossing the street toward them brought a gasp of admiration from the Young American. "Gosh, look at the pippin! Say, isn't she a little beauty?"

The Wanderer gave another puff and then replied: "Well, maybe she is and maybe she isn't."

"What do you mean by maybe she isn't? A blind man could see that she's a beauty. What's the matter with your sight?" the Young American demanded.

Again the Wanderer puffed before he answered.

"Well, I didn't say she wasn't. But I've seen so many different notions of beauty that I'm beginning to wonder if there is such a thing at all. For instance, look at her hair, all puffed out at the sides and fluffy round her face. According to American ideas that's pretty. But a Mongolian man or woman would think it perfectly hideous. They think that beauty lies in skinning a woman's hair back just as tight as she can, screwing it into a little tight knot or cutting it off altogether and covering the top of her head with an elaborate edifice of finery, sort of a showcase for her jewelry. You can pretty nearly judge her position by the number of trinkets she has piled on.

"In other parts of Mongolia the women hang cloth curtains over their ears because they think that beauty forbids allowing their ears to be seen naked. With them, ears are strictly taboo. On the other hand, the natives of some of the South seas islands try to make their ears as large and conspicious as they can, and the nearer their ear lobes come to touching their shoulders the more beautiful they think they are. They even hang heavy weights on their children's ears to try to stretch them.

"Same way with clothes. If you were to tell a Nepalese woman that you think that girl has on a good-looking suit she'd probably exclaim in genuine astonishment, 'What, that awful looking thing! Why, it's perfectly flat in front.' Her idea of a good-looking suit is a little short, tight jacket, and a skirt skin tight in the back, with yards and yards of cloth made into a big bunch in the front. The bigger the bunch, the more stylish the suit. Which idea is right?

"No doubt, too, you think that girl has pretty legs. So do I. Curves and all that. But in one of the African tribes the mothers fasten straight metal bands on their little girls' legs and leave them on until they are grown up. With maternal foresight they want them to have beautiful legs, so straight and thin, just like this stick.

"And, after all, who's to decide what beauty is?"

Why Are We White?

Originally all men were black, because they lived on roots and fruits. When they got dispersed more widely, altered conditions very soon modified the color of their skins.

In this way the negroes in America turned into red Indians, because they used bloody meat, which supplied them with a superabundance of hemoglobin, the coloring matter of the blood.

The Chinese, the Japanese and the Mongolians are yellow because their ancestors made a misuse of milk, which contains chlor, whose dissolving force is well known.

Now, why are we white? asks Le Petit Journal of Paris. Solely because we eat too much salt, which, as a dissolvant even surpasses chlor, that turns Asiatics yellow. The day we shall cease to salt our food we shall become black again and have flat noses.

Distilling Rare Metals.

Among the most interesting experiments made with the electric furnace are those reported by M. Moissan, the French chemist. It appears that, with a current of 500 amperes at 110 volts' pressure, he in a few minutes distilled from 20 to 50 grams of platinum. The ebullition of the metal took place as quietly as that of water at its boiling point. The metallic drops were collected on a copper tube traversed by a current of cold water. They deposited themselves in the form of cubic crystals and brilliant crystalline sheets. Moissan has, it seems, also distilled the rare metals osmium, ruthenium, palladium, iridium and rhodium.

Seed.

California is producing 8,600,000 boxes of navel oranges a year. Yet this whole orange industry is said to have sprung from one little slip budded to a navel orange, that came from Brazil fifty-one years ago.

That original orange tree still stands in the greenhouse of the department of agriculture. See it, some time when you are in Washington. It is more interesting than congress—and more important. It is a sermon on growth and possibilities.

The Endless Argument.

"What's the argument?"

"Just a couple of rich guys trying to settle the question whether Florida is a better place to spend the winter than California."

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

"Saving money, for the young unmarried man, in many cases molds his character by self-denial of things he does not need, improves his health by eliminating dissipation and encouraging regular hours of sleep, improves the quality of his work by putting him in a better physical position and lessening the number of distracting outside interests and influences."

The above is a portion of a letter recently written by a young man in explanation of his reasons for practicing thrift. Until quite recently his salary had been $2,200 a year and during all of 1921 he saved $100 a month. At the end of the year he was asked for a statement regarding why he was willing to submit to such rigid self-discipline. His letter comprised a sermon on the value of prudent habits.

He stated that he was able to make such a large saving by keeping a budget. He did not feel that his habits implied stinginess or tightfistedness, but he realized that his success in life depended on his ability to save money now. He said he had observed that few successes in the business world are permanent unless the man had learned to save money, and that he did not believe he ever would amount to much if he did not learn to master himself in the matter of personal expenditures. He displayed a deep appreciation of thrift values when he called attention to the fact that it was not alone the money he was saving that would benefit him in after years, but that to a still greater degree benefits would ensue from the strength of character which he was attaining. By practicing thrift and thus eliminating dissipation he was able to turn his spare time to good advantage by reading the best books and otherwise fitting himself for the great work which it is his ambition to accomplish.

These are truths that should be kept in mind by all young men today who are willing to deny themselves certain passing pleasures in order to improve their morals and their health and save money. Those who adhere to these practices will tomorrow rule the destinies of the business world and the nation.

It Happens So.

When I was a boy I knew a boy who didn't appear to amount to much; work was a thing that he didn't enjoy, and his books were things he would seldom touch. Every one said, in those bygone days, that fame and riches would never be his, he would sink, they thought, into useless ways, and there is exactly where he is.—Exchange.

The Leader.

It was the custom of the congregation to repeat the Twenty-third Psalm in concert, and Mrs. Armstrong's habit was to keep about a dozen words ahead all the way through. A stranger was asking one day about Mrs. Armstrong. "Who," he inquired, "was the lady who was already by the still waters while the rest of us were lying down in green pastures?"—Metropolitan.

SAW SIGNIFICANCE IN MOLES

Writer of Long Ago Pointed Out the Meaning of Spots on the Human Anatomy.

Have you a little brown mole concealed somewhere about your anatomy that you sometimes show to your friends—and sometimes don't? Well, every little mole has a meaning of its own, according to a chapbook that was current in the Eighteenth century, entitled "Dreams and Moles, With Their Interpretation and Significance" (printed and sold in Aldermary churchyard, Bow lane, London). Whether you are to be happy or unhappy, lucky or unlucky in life depends upon where your little pet is located. Here are some of the interpretations given in the old chap-book:

On the left ribs, cruelty in man, vanity and pride in woman.

Near the right shoulder, you are to be a slave to love if a man, and to be beloved of great men, if you are a woman.

A mole on the right side of the abdomen means riches for a man and happiness in marriage for a woman.

A mole on the right arm denotes that you will rule your own household; one on your left arm, that you will be a slave to duty.

WHEN 'SPECS' WERE NOVELTY

Many People Wore Them Because It Was Considered the Fashionable Thing to Do.

In the days when spectacles were introduced the world was not all wise. Glasses became so fashionable that people did not wait until necessity compelled them to adopt the new custom. Whether their eyesight was bad or good, those who would be stylish wore spectacles. In Spain they formed part of the costume of every well-dressed person.

The object of the wearer in putting on glasses was to increase the gravity of his appearance and render himself more directly imposing. A young monk, who had, through the assistance of his family, caused his order to succeed in an important lawsuit, felt himself liberally rewarded when the prior, having embraced him warmly, testified his gratitude by saying, "Brother, put on spectacles."

The glasses of spectacles were proportioned in size not to the eyes, but to the rank of the wearer, those worn by the Spanish nobles being as large as one's hand. The marquis of Astorga, viceroy of Naples, after having had his bust sculptured in marble, particularly enjoined the artist not to forget his beautiful spectacles.

A Soliloquy.

As long as there are tomorrows lazy men will have excuses for feeling weary today.

THERE is no element of chance in buying here. No matter what you choose you may be sure of selecting fashions that are correct, distinctive, and honestly priced.

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTOR.

Hail to the Chief.

"At one moment," an afternoon visitor to the lounge of a London hotel writes, "I counted five women powdering their noses; three were attending to the intricacies of manicure; another was tactfully brushing her cheek with rouge, while the majority were puffing away at cigarettes of various shapes and sizes." Did he expect them to be singing a chorus of welcome as he made his entrance, or what?—Westminster Gazette.

Fish Swim Upside Down.

The human has it on the vast majority of fishes, in that he can swim on his back. There is, however, just one member of the carp tribe that does it quite often. This is an inhabitant of tropical waters, known as the globe fish. The skin on the underside of this fish is loose and can be filled with air at will. When the fish blows itself out in this manner, it naturally turns on its back and goes on its way in that position.

Get After What You Want.

It is no use just sitting down and waiting for things to happen. Life is "round the corner," and you've got to run after it, and run fast, too, with your head up and your mind alert. Wishes are all very well, but they must not master you. You've got to master them. Long, yearn, desire, as much as you like, it is a good sign, but, oh, don't put your wishbone in the place where your backbone ought to be.—Exchange.

FARM INSTITUTES NEXT WEEK

The Farm Bureau will hold farmers' institutes all next week with I. C. H. Cook of South Byron, Genesee county and Miss Dora Earl of Tompkins county as the speakers.

Mr. Cook will take up the subjects of the purchase of fertilizers and good seeds, which are especially important this year. The program of the meeting is as follows:

10:30 a. m.—Opening remarks. Results of Local Farm Bureau Tests, E. L. Chase, County Agent, Ulster county. Purchase and Use of Fertilizers, I. C. H. Cook, South Byron, Genesee county.

1:30 p. m.—Question box. State and American Farm Bureau Federations. Farm Bureau Problems, Mr. Chase. The Selection and Use of Good Seeds in a Four-year Rotation, Mr. Cook.

Home-makers Conference.

The conference will be held in Church Hall in charge of Mrs. Clinton Singer.

2:00 p. m.—The Home Bureau Program, Jennie C. Fisher, Home Demonstration Agent, Ulster county. Labor Saving Devices, Miss Dora L. Earl, Ithaca, Tompkins county.

Monday, February 6, Asbury, Grange Hall.

Tuesday, February 7—Spring Glen, Church Hall.

Wednesday, February 8—Hurley, Town Hall.

Thursday, February 9—Kerhonkson, Pythian Hall.

Friday, February 10—Mt. Marion, Church Hall.

COTTEKILL.

Cottekill, Feb. 2.—District Superintendent Dr. H. Wright of the Newburgh District New York M. E. Conference, was in this village on Friday evening, January 27, and preached to a goodly attendance in the M. E Church and after the preaching service held the fourth or last quarterly conference for the Stone Ridge charge for 1921.

H. A. Locke of Cleveland, Ohio, salesman for a New York concern, was in this village on Wednesday and visited his brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Locke. Mr. Locke started in the dry goods business with the late firm of George B. Merritt & Co., of Kingston, N. Y., in the building now occupied by the Keeney theatre on Wall street.

The ice houses in this place are all filled with a fine quality of 15 to 18 inch ice from the pond of A. K. Sheeley and from Delamater's lake.

On Friday evening, January 27, Mrs. James D. Pine was tendered a surprise party by a umber of her friends, it being the occasion of her fifty-first birthday. Although she was completely surprised, Mrs. Pine made all very welcome and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all those present. Dancing, games and music were enjoyed by all and dainty refreshments were served. At a late hour the guests departed for their homes, wishing Mrs. Pine many more birthdays. Those present were: Mrs. James Beach and son Oscar, Miss Verna Pine, Mr. and Mrs. Soldwedel, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Burr and daughter Mary, Mrs. Josephine Meyers, Mrs. Mary Dunbar and son Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunbar and son Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. James Pine and daughters, Florence and Edna Mae.

LAKE KATRINE.

Wesley Halwick, Jr., is confined to his home with the grip.

There will be a dance and box party held in the Grange Hall, Friday, February 3. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Miss Kathaleen Legg, who has been confined to her home since Christmas, is still in bed.

The Misses Dorothy Jennings and Alma Cook have been ill with grip.

A number of young people were entertained by Mrs. George Shiels Thursday evening in honor of her daughter, Winifred's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Wolven are confined to their home with the grip.

Kathryn and Marguerite Fredricks entertained Miss Irene Doolittle Sunday.

The community social brought together many people of the neighborhood, who listened to the following program: Chorus, Onward Christian Soldiers; piano solo, Charles Burger; tableaux, Mrs. Kieffer's class. This was a gypsy scene. The first scene displayed the fortune tellers, campfire scene and lace vender. The second scene showed the penitent before the gypsy queen, Miss Alma Cook. During this scene Mrs. Mildred E. Smith sang the "Gypsy's Warning." This tableaux was another success, added to the many already attained by Mrs. David Kieffer. A chorus by Mrs. Mary Brink's class followed. Auley Roosa read a humorous selection. Mrs. Cook's and Miss Shiel's class gave a concert recitation. Vocal solo, Mighty Lak a Rose, Mrs. Smith. Piano and violin duet, Mrs. Brink and Wesley Parish. After the program dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. William Legg and Mrs. George Shiels spent Tuesday evening with Mrs. Merlin Wolven.

ULSTER PARK.

Ulster Park, Feb. 2.—Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. Morning worship at 10:30 a. m. Evening worship at Union Center at 7:30 p. m. The sermon subject at both services will be, "The Path of the Soul to God." There will be a children's sermon at both services. Christian Endeavor service will be held at 7 p. m. at Union Center and at 7:30 at Ulster Park.

TWO GAMES IN "Y" SENIOR LEAGUE

Already considerable interest is being manifested over the Senior league basketball games which are to be played weekly at the local "Y" in the gymnasium.

Thursday the Rangers trimmed the Crescents 19 to 18 in an exciting period of extra play when Bob Murray dropped in the deciding foul basket. At the end of the regular period of play the score stood 17 all and Mr. Begg decided that five minutes of extra play would be indulged in so that the game might be declared played-off. Winters and Murray scored the most points for their team, the Rangers, with the next highest points being made by Harris, Barmann and Vogel. Chet Dolson scored the highest number of individual points throughout the evening with a final tally of 14 to his credit. Fred Meeker played a smart center's position, and the quick manner in which he grabbed the ball from an opponent's hand was pleasing to behold. Brown, the rubber Diamond man, is a persistent and aggressive guard.

The second game was played between the Wanderers and the Ramblers and the Wanderers wandered about the court in such a hypnotizing fashion that the Ramblers were unable to find their opponents and the ball, so the Wanderers won by the score of 23 to 17. Loughran Smith ranks second in the scoring lead with a total for the game of 10 points. Van Bramer of the Wanderers completely outjumped Wood and his manner of passing it is highly commendable. But had it not been for Wood the Ramblers would have been in more of a dilemma, for he scored the highest individual score on his team. "Pop" Davis is a fast guard and he will bear watching as the season progresses. Wesley Thompson is an excellent example of unselfish teamwork, for he was continually passing the ball to the man on his team whom he knew to be the better shot and the final score is partly his fault.

ACCORD.

Accord, Feb 2.—Doubtless detailed reports of the poultry institute which was held in this place on Wednesday, will soon appear in The Freeman and in the Farm Bureau News, but it will not be out of place to state at this time that in attendance, interest, ability of the speakers and general all around excellence, the institute has passed into history as the most successful that has ever been held here.

The poultry business in the Rondout valley is not only coming but it is most decidedly here. Undoubtedly the next thing to consider is the marketing end and we venture the prediction that before many years have passed, the best grade eggs quoted will be under this description: "Fanciest Rondout Valley Henery's."

Don't forget the entertainment by local talent in the Odd Fellows' Hall on Thursday evening, February 9. Admission 15 and 25 cents. Also refreshments.

Word has been received from H. M. Epps that the community sing which has been discontinued for some time, will be resumed at the Odd Fellows' Hall on Monday, February 6.

Carl Nordgren has resigned his position at the creamery and has removed to High Falls.

Harry Winkelman of Stone Ridge has accepted the vacant position at the creamery.

Theodore Nelson has returned from a several weeks' stay in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Charles Green and son are pressing straw near Wawarsing.

A number of local Masons journeyed to Kingston Tuesday to witness the working of the third degree on two candidates from this place.

J. Friedman left for New York city Tuesday.

Mrs. Gilbert Booth and little son have arrived home from the Kingston City Hospital.

A MESSAGE TO TIRED, SICK FOLKS

Don't Drag Through Life Half Sick and Half Well. Take This Advice.

Go to your druggist and ask him for Gude's Pepto-Mangan and take it with your meals for a few weeks and see how your health improves.

If you are pale, tired, lack ambition and vigor, you know yourself that if you had plenty of red blood that you would not feel tired and half sick all the time. The only sure foundation of permanent health is good blood. Gude's Pepto-Mangan builds up your blood with a form of iron that gets into your system quickly. It is wonderful. You will like it and it will make you feel so well and strong. Life will be worth living again. Try it and you will thank us for telling you about it. Druggists sell Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form.—Advertisement.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Feb. 2.—The Christian Endeavor meeting on Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the basement of the church, subject "Christian Endeavor Around the World" Ref. Psalm 107:1-3. Leader, Mrs. A. E. Goetchius.

Mrs. George Grant has returned home after spending a week in Walden.

Mrs. Cyrus Gillespie and daughter Theda were in this place last Saturday afternoon and visited with Mrs. Martha Sheeley, returning to Kingston in the evening.

The dance in the parish house last Thursday night was well patronized.

Otto Feth, who had a slight operation recently at the Kingston Hospital, is much improved. Mr. and Mrs. Feth are now visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker at Albany.

H. E. Williams of Walden made a business trip to this place on Monday.

Mrs. James Nilan visited her mother, Mrs. Mary Schoonmaker, a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Atkins spent the week-end at Wawarsing.

Mrs. C. E. Depuy, who has been confined to her home for some time with a bad cold, is much better. Mrs. Depuy was fortunate in having her daughter who is a trained nurse, care for her.

The Rev. Mr. Braithwaite was entertained over Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barnhart.

The Ladies' Aid Society held an all-day meeting on Thursday in the basement of the church. A great deal of sewing is accomplished at these all-day meetings. We hope all who can will plan to come and spend a pleasant day. Our regular monthly meeting is held in the afternoon and a good attendance is desired.

HIGH WOODS

High Woods, Feb. 2.—The Rev. Mr. Kerr will preach at Mt. Marion and High Woods next Sunday. Mt. Marion at 10:30. High Woods, 2 p. m. Subject of sermon, "The Good or Evil Ye do to Men, is Good or Evil Done to Me."

Mr. and Mrs. Kerr will take dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Snyder of High Woods next Sunday.

Wilson Carle filled his ice house last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shortt were guests at Lewis E. Snyder's Sunday.

Charles Tompkins, who has been visiting his brother in Newark, has returned home.

Mrs. Joseph Bittner, who fell about two weeks ago and injured her right shoulder, is still unable to do any work with her right arm.

The Willing Workers will meet at the church hall on Wednesday, February 8, at 10 a. m. It is to be a quilting bee, so all members are requested to bring quilting implements as there will be quilts enough for all to work at.

Lewis E. Snyder and family spent Tuesday with his mother and sister.

Mrs. Alexander Felten and Mary J. Carle called at Joseph Bittner's on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Lewis York had a serious attack of acute indigestion last Friday night.

ASHOKAN.

Ashokan, Feb. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kinney accompanied by Mrs. Millie Silkworth and Mrs. George Sickler motored to Kingston on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Aggie Ballard of Michigan, who has been visiting relatives in this place, is spending a few days in Halcottville, Delaware county.

Mrs. John Polepeon, who has been sick, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Eltinge Grey and infant son, were Kingston visitors on Monday.

We understand Will Green has sold his store property to a party from Fleischmanns.

Spencer Jones has purchased a new Studebaker car which will be delivered in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Kinney were evening visitors at the home of Millie Silkworth on Tuesday.

Gladys Secor and Vera Van Steenburg called on Helen Davis on Monday night.

Grip colds seem to be prevalent in this vicinity.

Mrs. Kate McGregor is stopping at the home of Mrs. Frank Hogan for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris of Grand Gorge called on their mother, Millie Morris, on Sunday.

Fred Markle of New Jersey, who has been spending some time with his mother, Mrs. Polepeon, has returned home.

How It Started.

When Eve took off her fig leaf dress
(She little cared, we must confess)
And dived into a cooling stream
(By gum, we'll bet she was a dream!)
Because she wore a no-piece suit

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, Feb. 2.—A valentine party will be held in the M. E. Church on Tuesday evening, February 14.

The regular meeting of the Willing Workers of the M. E. Church will be held at the home of Mrs William Addis on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

On Friday, January 27, Maynard DeWitt of Kerhonkson sold at Newburgh to W. H. Denton his property at Tarrytown.

Among the pleasant social events of last week one stood out as particularly delightful. It was an old-fashioned house party as a surprise for Mr. and Mrs. Derrick Irwin on Wednesday evening. The pleasant surprise of the evening was playing cards and singing and playing until the refreshments were served. Those who enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Irwin's generous and cordial hospitality were Mr. and Mrs. C. H Cross, Mr. and Mrs. D. Churchill, Mr. and Mrs. G. Geary, Mr. and Mrs. M Krom, Mr. and Mrs. A. Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. R. Van Dermark, Mrs. B. Wright, Mrs. S. Van Dermark and Miss E Dunn.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH TELLS OF STRUGGLE TO SUCCESS

Editor, The Kingston Daily Freeman:

Will you allow us, the officers of the St. Mark's A. M. E. Church of Foxhall avenue, to inform the public at large of the standing of our church, spiritually, numerically, and financially. We have have just closed on the 12th of January a successful revival in which 14 were added to our church. Three years ago when the Rev. A. L. Hughes came to our church he found the doors practically closed; there were 9 members here and there about the city, but he went to work with the faithful few and today, the 3rd of February, which is his 22nd anniversary in the ministry, for it was the third of February, 1900, when he was licensed to preach, and coming to us on the 16th of June, 1918, after the Rev. Mr. Jones who was sent to us by that same conference. The said Rev. Mr. Jones came on Saturday in the afternoon, looked around and found a dingy church, he taking the next train to New York. We are proud to say that God has blessed our pastor and strengthened us in the efforts with him. From a membership of 9 we have now 83 members. Out of that number there are 5 aged members, and 13 minors. The parsonage has been paid out of debt, the church has been beautifully renovated inside, new pulpit, new carpet, new pulpit chairs, new chairs for the choir. For the 74 years of the existence of our church we have now lavatory and water in the church, and this week we have just completed the installing of electric lights, 3 electric dome fixtures in the center of the church, one sidewall fixture at organ, one light over the front entrance which makes the church more attractive inside. Our present indebtedness is due Brown and Dressel Co., $263.56, due Carl Miller and Son, $95.50; due Kingston Gas and Electric Co., $11.03; due O'Hara Coal Co., $13.45; due T. I. Rifenbary and son, $3.00. Total debt, $385.54.

We have been asked often how, or by what method do you raise the salary for your pastor. We are proud to inform the public at large for we wished them to know. We pay our pastor from our class dues and monthly dues. We do not come to the public with books, punch cards or envelopes. We only use that kind of a method for the upkeeping of the church's temporal concern when the burden is greater than we can reach at a given time. We know that the public loves to see a church well kept inside and outside. We have no objection to any one in this city or county and state making a contribution to our pastor personally. We wished for you our dear friends to know what we are doing and how we are doing. Our books are opened for inspection of the public at all times. We come before the public once a year asking them for a donation. As it is a custom of having annually donations and as our pastor's birthday comes on the 14th of April that is the only time that we come out before the public and that is done by an invitation circular which serves as a program. Thanking you one and all who have helped us in our efforts. Respectfully submitted

Church services were well attended Sunday, considering the bad roads up this way. The road is passable for cars Now that the snow is smooth on the tracks the road is in good shape from the stores to the state road for cars.

Elijah Quick has been working for R. J. Osterhoudt last week.

Head or Tail.

Do you know it is possible to tell whether a spinning coin will land head or tail? Before spinning the coin make a small nick at one of the edges, so that a tiny point of metal protrudes. Suppose the nick has been cut on the edge of the head side. If the coin is spun it will settle down gradually in the ordinary way if the notched side is upward, but should it be underneath, the notch will make a sound as it strikes the table and the coin will settle down quickly.—Tit-Bits.

GAY WITH COLORS

Picturesque Scene on Old East Indian Highway.

Customs and Costumes of the Past and Present Mingled in Kaleidoscopic Procession.

The great highway which runs from the Kyber pass in the far northwest of India to Calcutta in the far East is a kaleidoscope of the colors and the customs of the past and present, writes Temple Manning in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. On this great road are to be seen ox teams caravans and camels from Afghanistan dodging huge, snorting motor trucks and light American and European cars At a glance one might think it all a circus en route, because even the elephants are there

Parallel to this road is a railway One of the most interesting places along the line is Lahore, the capital of Punjab. It is called "The City of the Thirteen Gates" The railway station in Lahore resembles a fort, and so picturesque is it that one can almost imagine it being besieged by ancient oriental warriors

On leaving the station one is struck by the spirit of the place It is still the East, even if there are sandwich men advertising American moving pictures.

The bustling city, with its crowded bazaars and towering mosques, is very beautiful It is surrounded by lovely gardens, which form a green circle around the city, the only break being the dusty section near the Ravi river

In Lahore is the beautiful palace of mirrors, where thousands of tiny mirrors, set in plaster, form the decorations of the walls and ceiling. Here a single candle will illuminate the interior with myriads of glistening lights like a many sided diamond turned inside out

The streets are crowded with the gayly-dressed inhabitants As in most countries, the color is given by the women's dress The average woman of Lahore wears a white waist resembling a Russian blouse, spotless white trousers of the baggy Turkish variety and last but not least, a waistcoat like a man's with checks—great big checks

The belles of Lahore weight down their hands with rings, and also their noses. Sometimes the nose ring is worn jauntily in one nostril, in the same manner that a hat is put on a rakish angle Their arms are heavy with bracelets, and invariably nowadays each girl's arm is adorned with an American wrist watch The wrist watches are an amusing touch, and dispel the oriental effect in the mind of the traveler who expects to see only what he has read of in old books.

Some of our girls who think they are very devilish and advanced because they roll down their stockings or even wear socks, are behind the times compared with their sisters of Lahore For in Lahore the men wear stockings, and for centuries the girls have worn socks.

The Golden Goose.

An American says he is "skinned" and Americans understand him The French have a corresponding word for robbing somebody outside the law and this word is "estampage," and the French are becoming wise to the fact that France may be overdoing this taking of irregular toll from tourists and visitors Except for one or two special resorts, touring in France has fallen off this year and those who are thinking about this enormous source of income to the country are pointing out the evil of the incapacity of some and the rapacity of others. The word "estampage" by the way, is a dictionary word for punching holes in metal, and is commonly understood in France for overcharging

Britain Wants Own Beet Sugar.

Before the great war Great Britain paid Germany, even upon a low computation $35,000,000 a year for beet sugar. Great Britain now appears determined not to do it in the future, as there has been recently opened at Newark-on-Trent a beet sugar factory which opens a new chapter in British farming annals.

The factory, covering some forty acres in all is the result of co-operation between the government and the Sugar Beet Growers' society and Home Grown Sugar, Limited and is to be the first of five factories, which in turn may be precursors of the 400 that would be necessary to make England quite self-supporting.

The Necessary Husband.

"She wants her husband back again"

"But she sued him for divorce and got it"

"I know"

"And the court gave her the custody of the children."

"That's the trouble She finds now that she really needs him. You see she has no one to stay at home with the children on the nights her club meets"—Detroit Free Press

Rule of the Dark Ages.

"What is this torn and tattered flag, grandmother?"

"That's a suffrage banner, my child During the great suffrage battles of 20 years ago I dared 12 brawny policemen to take that sacred standard away from me."

"And did they do it, grandmother, dear?"

"Yes, my child, but it was about 40 minutes later."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

HOW

SLANG PHRASES FINALLY ARE ADDED TO LANGUAGE.

—Nobody seems to know where the term "flivver" (meaning a cheap flipp or little car) originated, any more than there is a discoverable origin at least by casual inquiry of the source of the word "jitney" A jitney seems originally to have been the name of a nickel or five-cent piece. Thence, presumably in reference to the fare, it has become transferred and is now applied to the miscellaneous vehicles, from small motorcars to omnibuses which ply for hire in a number of American cities in competition with established street car lines—a competition which has become so severe in some western towns that the street car companies are threatening to abandon their services.

But the American fecundity and ingenuity in coining new—and not seldom atrocious—words goes on with the same buoyancy as characterizes all American industry We will, in courtesy, pass by President Harding's "normalcy"; but I have stayed in hotels which informed me that, besides a regular physician there was both an "osteopath" and a "chiropractor" on the premises You will hardly find an optician who is not also an "optometrist" Perhaps the most fashionable branch of American dentistry just now is "orthodontia," which is practiced by "orthodontists."

Gentlemen who deal in land and house property who have heretofore been known, rather clumsily, as real estate agents, now call themselves (apparently without shame) "realtors" In certain cities there is a strong movement among the undertakers to have themselves recognized as "morticians" Added to the "Dago" (which, though having only recently become popular in England, has at least half a century of current use to sanction it in the United States) and the more recent "Wop"—though you may see it spelled "Wap"—has now arisen the "Hunyak," a comprehensive ethnological term for, roughly, all European peoples who are not called Dagoes, Scandinavians (more commonly "Svenskies") or British—From an American Edition of the London Times

HAVE REAL PURPOSE IN LIFE

How the "Go-Getter" Succeeds Where Others of Equal Ability Find Themselves Failures.

There's no special secret about the go-getter He doesn't measure income by hours Time for him is opportunity He never has enough of it. Every working hour is turned to account It's no wonder he gets the respect of men and a bank account. That's the evidence that he's a go getter.

Most folks rejoice when a big opportunity opens for them The go-getter has feelings and aspirations just like any other fellow only he never wastes time wishing that ought to be spent in doing

There's something inspiring about go getting A youthful loiterer the other day was teased into some real work. The results were very gratifying Speaking to his mother a little later she said "It's fun to do things, isn't it?" It's the joy of doing that makes the go getter

After you get going it's easy to attempt increasingly difficult tasks Success in one begets confidence and skill that helps achieve in other things also.

When folks see you making things go they are very ready to offer you fresh avenues to power Keep fit play fair and life will become a great game of achievement.—Grit.

Why Rain Causes Pain.

Persons who suffer from rheumatism maintain that they can foretell an approaching storm by the increasing frequency of their pains and the sharpness with which these dart through their body says an exchange

Often predictions of this sort are attributed to imagination, but they have a very solid foundation of truth. The human body reacts quickly to changes of air pressure, because of the air in the spaces between the cells situated beneath the skin. When the air pressure on the outside of the body decreases—as it does before a storm—the outward pressure in these cells increase, and in the case of persons suffering from rheumatism or gout, causes additional pain

An old couplet describes the process quite accurately by saying

"A coming storm your shooting corns presage; Your aches will throb, your hollow tooth will rage."

Why Girls Are Indignant.

At one of the finishing schools that line the banks of the Hudson the dean was suspicious of the number of brothers and cousins calling on some of her attractive charges. The families seemed entirely too large.

"And do you know what she did?" indignantly explained one of the girls. "She wrote home and asked for the names and approximate ages of all our men relatives. So the old bluff works no longer and mere friends can't get past the old chaperonage rules. She keeps a register for each of the students."—New York Sun.

Good Investment That Pays Good Interest

When the user of gas or electric service—the customer of a well managed Light and Power Company—invests his money in that Company's securities, he is helping to finance an industry that represents the accumulated genius and research of generations of scientists and engineers.

He has the satisfaction of knowing that his investment is safeguarded by the State, through its Public Service Commission, which has authority over utility rates and future capitalization expenditures, and protects the public and the utility as well, from inequitable and unjust rates and from unsound financing.

Furthermore, an investor in the securities of the Light and Power Company becomes a partner in a local enterprise whose growth and progress is under his personal observation and whose service is an important factor in the development of the community.

"Gringo"

The word "gringo," Mexican nickname for an American, is in Spanish dictionaries of many years ago. The word was first brought into the Spanish language from griego and the talk of the French phrase "to speak in Greek," which was generally applied to persons who spoke in a tongue unintelligible to them. It is not, as has been stated, of Mexican war origin.—Dearborn Independent.

The Luckless.

When a man has no luck it is usually because he has neither ability nor industry.—Atchison Globe.

AUTO WITHOUT AXLES SHOWN HERE

Four demonstration cars of the Birmingham No Axle Car were in town Wednesday and Thursday. The Birmingham Sales Corporation of Eastern New York, incorporated with a capital of $100,000 to handle the product, has offices at 30 Wall street, this city.

The Birmingham No Axle Car is manufactured at Jamestown, N. Y. The usual heavy axle is eliminated and each of the four wheels acts independent of the other. Since the invention of the automobile engineers have tried to eliminate all unsprung weight, that is weight below the springs, it being claimed that one pound of unsprung weight is equal to 10 pounds of sprung weight. In the Birmingham car all of the unsprung weight except the weight of the four wheels has been eliminated. Even the differential is above the springs.

The Birmingham people offer a $10,000 challenge to any stock car made on easy riding qualities, the provisions of the contest are that the car follow the Birmingham car over the same route at the same speed. A $1,000 challenge is made to any car which will follow the Birmingham car over a road of the Birmingham construction at one-half the speed of the Birmingham car. There have been no contenders for the money as yet.

The car with standard equipment is said to weigh from 1,200 to 2,000 pounds less than the average car of the same size.

Three models, now being made sell at from $2,500 to $3,500.

A number of local people were given demonstrations of the easy riding qualities of the car. The party left Thursday afternoon for Albany.

Cut Foot; Nearly Froze.

Ernestine Conine of Gardiner narrowly escaped being frozen to death during the recent cold spell. While cutting wood on the farm of Arthur McCord he cut his foot, which bled profusely. When he did not return from work an investigation led to his discovery in the snow. He was in bad shape from loss of blood but is now doing well.

GATES MINE DEAD NEARLY THIRTY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Brownsville, Pa., Feb. 3. Twenty-two bodies had been removed from the Gates mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company at Gates, Pa., today. The total number of men killed by the great blast Thursday morning is uncertain. Company officials claim 25 will be the limit. On the other hand rescuers reported they saw seven more bodies, which would bring the total to 29.

Another fall of slate today stopped further entrance into the workings where the blast occurred. Miners and company officials agree there is absolutely no hope of bringing out any of the miners alive.

In sad and loving memory of my grandmother, who entered into rest, one year ago today, February 3, 1921,

Gone, but not forgotten.

Grandson, GEORGE WELLS.

In sad and loving memory of our dear husband and daddy, William F. Murray, who departed this life February 3, 1921.

Soft and bright the stars are shining
On a sad and lonely grave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
Whom we tried but couldn't save.
That precious one from us was taken
The voice we loved is still
A place is vacant in our home
That never can be filled.
A year has passed, but, O, how we miss him,
Friends may think the wound has healed,
But little do they know our sadness
Which lies within our hearts concealed.

Noise.

Every organ of your body develops resisting powers as you need them. A miller gets so used to the sound of his mill wheels that he ceases to hear them and can catch a whisper.

Put 50 identical machines in a room. Workers forget the noise. But, if one machine stops, the operator knows it instantly by the changed sound.

This power of the ears to adjust themselves to environment makes city life possible. Metropolitans live in an inferno of noise. The ears ignore it, in a large sense, though the noise is there, tearing away at the nervous system.

SUNG HIS OWN COMPOSITIONS

Thomas Moore, Famous Irish Poet, Was Surely Exceptionally Endowed by Nature.

Thomas Moore, Ireland's favorite minstrel poet, was born in rooms over a Dublin corner grocery in 1779, and died a baronet, the "pote of all circles and the darlint of his own," the idol of two continents, in 1852.

For the last thirty years of his life he lived in a cottage at Sloperton, near Devizes, Wiltshire, where he devoted himself to all manner of literary efforts. His works include not only delightful short poems of "The Last Rose of Summer" type, but also poems to form a quarto volume, such as "Lalla Rookh," for which Moore received 3,000 guineas ($15,000), and they include prose of all kinds, a series of humorous letters, biographies and even a "History of Ireland."

Moore himself was a beautiful singer and rendered his own compositions often in public, it is related. After the tragic death of his daughter he refused to sing publicly again. His daughter, the darling of his heart, was leaning over the balustrade one night to throw a kiss to her father as he was going out to dine, when she lost her balance, fell and was killed.

"The Last Rose of Summer" was one of Moore's most exquisite creations. It appears in a collection of "Irish Melodies," written for Power, a London music publisher, on a contract to supply a considerable number of songs for a volume entitled as above. The work was started in 1807 and was not completed till 1834. "The Last Rose of Summer," however, was among the early productions, and is therefore easily more than 100 years old.

LAWYER COULD NOT SEE IT

Legal Luminary Felt Himself Regretfully Compelled to Decline Offered Job of "Spellbinding."

"I want to take time by the forelock," he said as he entered a lawyer's office.

"Yes, sir! Yes, sir!" was the reply. "Always take time by the forelock and you won't get left. What is it, sir?"

"Well, we are to have an election this fall for city offices, and I wanted to know if I could engage you to make a speech for me the night before election."

"Are you going to be a candidate?" was asked.

"I am."

"But what about the speech?"

"Why, a feller is going to run against me again who beat me by 300 votes last year. In fact, I only got two votes. I want you to come up and give me such a speech that I will beat him worse than he beat me. You will want to lay it right down to him. He killed a horse once, and stole a sawmill, and has been married three times. If you will come up and present the case in a way to knock the feller out, I will give you $5."

The lawyer respectfully declined to take the case, and somebody will get snowed under again.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Bret Harte.

Bret Harte, American poet and novelist, was born at Albany, N. Y., August 25, 1839. While a youth he went to California, where, several years later he founded the Overland Monthly in San Francisco. In 1870 he was made professor of recent literature in the University of California, but resigned and returned to New York the following year. He was United States consul at Crefeld, Germany, 1878-80, and at Glasgow, 1880-85, and afterward lived in England. Among his many works are "The Luck of Roaring Camp," "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," "Condensed Novels, etc.," "The Heathen Chinee," "Poems," "Stories of the Sierras," "Tales of the Argonauts," "Gabriel Conroy," "Thankful Blossom," "Two Men of Sandy Bar," "California Stories, "A Millionaire of Rough and Ready," "A Drift From Redwood Camp" and "A Phyllis of the Sierras."

"Bulldozing."

The bull-whack, also called bull-whip, is a terrible whip, with a short handle, and a long heavy lash. In Texas and Louisiana it is used by drovers to intimidate refractory cattle. It is said that the use of this weapon gave rise to the term "bulldozer." The term first found its way into print just after the Civil war, when it came to mean intimidation for political purposes by violence or threats of violence. Since that time the word has acquired a wider significance and may be used with reference to intimidation of any kind.

Shorthand Long in Use.

From references made to skilled writers in ancient literature, the inference is drawn that shorthand was known long before the Christian era. The first authentic knowledge of the art dates to the first century before Christ. The pioneer of Roman shorthand was Marcus Tullius Tiro, secretary and librarian to Cicero, who devised a system which was little more than a list of abbreviations. Later it was improved to such an extent that reporters of the time could keep pace with the speakers by writing in relays. The system of the Latins fell into disuse between the Fifth and Ninth centuries, and modern stenography dates from 1588.

Pilgrim Fathers Were Separatists.

The Puritans sought the reform of the Church of England. The Pilgrims were Separatists from the first, who had already left England and formed an independent congregation in Leyden, whence they came to New England. They numbered forty-one families, 102 persons, landing at Plymouth December 20, 1620. They had previously made a covenant known as the Mayflower covenant, which bound them into a civil state with a religious basis. They wished to found "a church without a bishop and a state without a king."

Dog High on Roll of Honor.

To mention the dog is at once to call up a long vista of heroic deeds done by this noble species for the sake of mankind. Charlotte Bronte has recorded the finding at Herculaneum of the skeleton of the dog Delta, stretched over that of a boy of 12, with an inscription on the dog's collar, telling how he had three times saved his master's life—from the sea, from robbers, and from wolves. Evidently he perished in a brave attempt to keep the flow of molten lava from his little master.—Our Dumb Animals.

Ignis-Fatuus.

The ignis-fatuus is a pale-bluish flame which appears after sunset floating about two feet above the ground, sometimes remaining fixed and sometimes traveling. Some authorities think it is due to the presence of phosphoretted hydrogen gas, others to the combustion of methane. It is seen most frequently in northern Germany, in the swamps and moorland districts of northwestern England and in the lowlands of Scotland.

Mary's New Pocketbook.

Mary had a new pocketbook with a coin in it. She proudly showed it to a friend of the family, and a man who spoils all children particularly adorable Mary. When Mary was not looking he put three new coins in the pocketbook with the original one and when Mary found it she was so surprised that she jumped up and down and shouted, "Mother, mother, my money's hatched."

World's Oldest Harp.

What is said to be the oldest harp in the world is preserved at the Louvre museum in Paris. It was found in an Egyptian tomb and is nearly 4,000 years old. Others dating back 3,000 years have been discovered, while the instrument was held in such high regard by the ancient Celtic races that harpers were treated with veneration and distinction, their lands being free and their persons sacred.

Variation in Carpets.

Most carpets and rugs have but one usable side. Brussels has a pilelike velvet, but the pile is uncut. Wilton is heavier and more durable than Brussels, and the pile is cut, whereupon it appears like velvet. This carpet is so closely woven that it holds its surface. The Axminster rug (technically spool Axminster) is very much like Wilton, but has a looser weave.

Specific.

A traveler who alighted from the train in a small Southern town was greeted by a colored porter, who shouted at him: "Palace hotel, boss," and grabbed the traveler's baggage, and the latter said: "Wait a minute, Rastus. Is this hotel American or European?" And Rastus replied: "I dunno, boss, but I think they's Irish."—San Francisco Chronicle.

Laziest Place.

A little seaport in New Zealand, called Russell, is said to be the sleepiest place in the world. Rather than be put to the trouble of milking their own cows, they import condensed milk from Switzerland.

Lines to Be Remembered.

We should give as we would receive: cheerfully, quickly and without hesitation; for there is no grace in a benefit that sticks to the fingers.—Seneca.

OLE WAS OBEYING ORDERS

First Five Hundred Miles Slowly, Said Agent, and He Intended to Do as Directed.

The agent of a certain popular automobile made a sale to a Swedish farmer in a small town near Topeka. In his instructions to the purchaser he said: "You must be careful."

"Ay skall do dat."

"Also for the first 500 miles you must drive slowly—not over 15 miles an hour—or you will burn out your bearings."

"Ay do dat, too," said Ole.

"Your car has two gears, high and low. If you want to go fast put 'er in high. If you want to go slow, put 'er in low."

"Yas, siree, you can bet on Ole—eef ay want to go fast lak evertang ay put heem in high, if ay want to go slow ay put heem in low. Shure, ay no."

The next day the neighbors noticed Ole driving his new car up and down the road in "low." He kept it up until it began to snort and steam and was developing a terrific knock.

"Ole, you mustn't do that, don't you know you'll ruin your car that way—you'll burn up the bearings," they cautioned him.

"Ya can't fool Ole. Da boss who sold me das car told ma ay skall not drive over faffteen miles hour for 500 miles. He said to go in hurry put car in high gear, to go slow, lak turtle, put heem in low gear. Ay skall run 500 miles in low gear; get out vay quick, ay got 400 miles to go."

The neighbors argued, expostulated, then laughed, and Ole, with, "Ya skall al go to h—l," struck out down the road at 15 miles an hour in low gear.

CAUSE OF CANCER UNKNOWN

Dread Disease Has Baffled the Best Efforts of the Medical Fraternity for Centuries.

Medical science today knows no more about the cause of cancer than was known 1,000 years ago.

Some families seem to be immune. In other families deaths from cancer occur in generation after generation, as if to show a hereditary tendency.

There are many so-called "cancer houses," in which deaths from the disease have occurred with such lamentable repetition as to destroy their market value for selling or renting purposes. An evil repute attaches to certain well-known "cancer districts," in which the death rate from this malady is extraordinarily high. There is one such district in the Berkshires of Massachusetts, another is in the middle of New York state.

One of the many theories regarding the cause of cancer is that it is attributable to an undiscovered germ, carried by the bedbug or some other insect. If that were correct, the disease would surely be more prevalent among the slum-dwelling poor than among well-to-do people who enjoy the benefit of sanitary surroundings. But such is not the case; cancer is as common among the rich as in the tenement and poorer quarters of our cities.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Early English History.

The reason that the Norman conquest did not subjugate the English is explained by the fact that "Jutes, Angles, Saxons, Danes and Normans" were all kindred in race and so they united in one race; the Welsh, Irish and Scots were of the Celtic race. The Normans were not Frenchmen in the beginning but pirates from Scandinavia, who had come to France and had been given a tract of land. They adopted the French language and became in time the most courteous and noble people in Europe, but when they won the battle of Hastings, they were more nearly akin to the English or Anglo-Saxons than to the French, although they brought the French language to England, and many of their words were incorporated into the language. Because of racial differences the Welsh, Irish and Scotch did not unite with the English as easily, but the centuries have obliterated many racial characteristics because of many intermarriages.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Stop the Ache.

Zone-therapy is a system of relieving pain by applying pressure to the nerves—like shutting off the water or gas by turning a valve. For instance, to stop toothache, grasp the gums over the aching tooth, between thumb and forefinger. Press tightly! That is worth remembering. When you have toothache, everything else in the world fades into unimportance.

Origin of Old Saying.

The original quotation, "I fear the Greeks bearing gifts" appears in Vergil's Eneid. The reference is to the siege of Troy. The Greeks besieged the city of Troy without success. Finally they resorted to strategy, offering a huge wooden horse to the Trojans as a gift. The horse was taken into the city and while the Trojans slept, the warriors, with which the horse was filled, came forth and opened the gates for their Greek comrades. The conclusion is that one should fear an enemy when he seems friendly.

Other Worlds With Double Shadows.

We are so used to our sun that it never occurs to us that there are other worlds which have multiple suns. As a matter of fact, there are many star systems having two or more suns. The two suns, due to the tremendous mutual gravitation attraction, are pulled into elliptical shape. Tremendous tidal effects will be created on the planet, providing, of course, this planet has water as our earth has. The two suns also give rise to peculiar shadow effects whereby every object throws two shadows instead of one.

Delectable Prerogative.

During the reign of Louis XII kissing was very popular at court. Every dance movement ended with every man kissing his partner, and no gallant thought of greeting a lady friend without kissing her on the lips. The king himself, enjoyed this to the full, and always kissed every pretty girl at any dance or entertainment he attended. At social affairs it was a custom for courtiers to watch Louis, and when he was in high good humor ask such favors as they wished.

Vilna's History.

Vilna, the pleasant little city on the Viliya, has an interesting history. It was here that long years ago, the Poles kept the sacred fire of paganism burning on the castle hill night and day. The city has lived through some strenuous ages fighting Teutonic knights, Tartars and other medieval Bolsheviks—not always successfully. With one eye on culture, even in the most gory days, Vilna still keeps the volumes—some 200,000—of her famous suppressed university.

Earliest French Coat of Arms.

The earliest arms of France were in three frogs (crapauds), which were figured on the shield of the mythical Pharamond. They appear again on the banner of Clovis in the tapestry at Rheims cathedral, representing the battle scenes of that monarch, who is said to have been baptized there on his conversion to Christianity. They are also found represented on a shield in Pynarus' edition of Fayban's chronicle.

Chinese Like the Phonograph.

The phonograph has found great favor in China. Chinese buyers like cheapness, and they do not mind the scratching so long as the machine is loud enough. The record-making is most expensive, the most famous Chinese bands and singers being engaged. The Chinese do not care for foreign records, except for laughing songs and loudly clashing instrumental selections with the bugle and drum.

The Roses.

The tea rose was formerly known as the ten-scented China rose, because of its peculiar fragrance, said to resemble that of a newly opened tea chest. It originated in China, Sir Abraham Hume receiving from that country, in 1809, the first of this variety sent to Europe, a specimen with double pink flowers. The Latin name for the tea rose is rosa indica odorata.

Holy Cities of the World.

Allahabad is the holy city of the Indian Mohammedans, Benares is the holy city of the Hindoos, while Cuzco is that of the ancient Incas. Jerusalem is the holy city of the Jews and Christians. Mecca, Medina and Damascus have first place in the affections of the Mohammedans.

Beneficence Well Repaid.

Beneficence is a duty. He who frequently practices it and sees his benevolent intentions realized, at length comes really to love him to whom he has done good.—Immanuel Kant.

Dear, Dear!

"Why don't you strike Bumpleigh for a loan?" suggested Slopay. "I did," sighed Hardup. "But he told me that I had struck him amidships."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Safety First.

Men often think they have reformed for good when they are merely waiting for the future to blow over.

GRIM WEST AFRICA

Country of "Heat and Horror" to White Man.

British West Coast Colonies Hold Immense Wealth and Secrets Which Defy Modern Science.

W. Alan Lethbridge, in his book, "West Africa," gives a clear and interesting account of the West Coast colonies as they are today, of their "heat and horror," of their immense wealth, and of their strange medical problems. Wounds in the white man will not heal there and no white child may be born. Nor has the secret of tropical fever been mastered, though Sierra Leone is no longer "the white man's grave."

He has some grim stories to tell—one, which is new, of the haunted castle at Elmina, where no one sleeps without a qualm. It appears that a party of three men and one woman were playing bridge very keenly in the tropical night; "Of a sudden the lady put her hands to her eyes as though dazzled. Asked if anything were the matter she denied anything wrong and continued playing. Then again she clapped her hands to her eyes, gave an exclamation, and fainted dead away." What she had seen she could not or would not say, but the tradition is that a headless woman walks the castle.

Nor does Mr. Lethbridge reject the power of native magic. He vouches for one strange story: That at a point in the Niger delta in a hut near a store were a number of native workers, under medical supervision. Their headman said it was "no good place." "One morning a Kroo boy was reported dead; a post-mortem revealed no apparent cause of death. Next morning two men had departed this life and again post-mortems revealed nothing. On the third morning four men were dead and there was something like a panic."

All the men were at once removed and a fresh batch brought up to be placed in "the same sinister house." They, too, died in the same mysterious way, and it was decided to burn down the hut. "Then something fell to the ground and was seized by the headman who rushed up to the doctor shouting, 'Here be plenty bad thing, sah! Fit to kill all men, sah!' He held at arm's length two human finger bones which had been tied together with a bit of native twine in the shape of a rough cross."

When this ju-ju was disposed of the deaths ceased. The Niger delta is not a place for lonely white men to take walks in the gloaming, an instance is mentioned of one "youngster" who did so and "two days later his mutilated corpse was found waterlogged in the sinister mangrove swamp." Nor is it a place to be buried in; we are told that in digging graves the water is reached and the mourners have to stand upon the coffin to hold it down.

Bungalow "Ointment."

The "sweat" of gas tanks is the ointment of bungalows. A creosote oil which condenses on the inside walls of gas tanks and trickles down is found to make an excellent shingle stain oil. It penetrates rapidly and dries quickly, and is an excellent solvent for stains and preservative for the wood.

To the gas companies it is known as holder oil, once almost a nuisance. The color ranges from amber and ruby to ebony. By keeping it reasonably light and clear gas companies are able to sell it to jobbers and wholesalers for from 5 to 10 cents a gallon. The latter sell it to paint and building material dealers for from 30 to 50 cents a gallon. Goodness knows says the New York World, for how much they sell it to the public.

When painters learn to buy this oil from the local gas company they will find the cost of materials for painting a shingle house only a small fraction of that for clapboard houses.

Compass on Crossing the Equator.

The compass needle does not turn around in passing from one hemisphere into the other. The north-seeking end of the compass needle has no greater significance or meaning in the southern hemisphere than the south-seeking end of the needle has in the northern hemisphere. The compass needle is a piece of magnetized steel. It has its own positive and negative poles, or north and south poles, just like the earth. The needle and its lines of force align themselves with the earth's lines of force. In the northern hemisphere the north magnetic pole exerts the dominating influence of the needle, so it points to that pole. The south end of the needle is disregarded. In the southern hemisphere the south magnetic pole exerts the dominating influence on the needle and it points to that pole, the north end of the needle in this case being disregarded. The needle does not reverse in going from one hemisphere to another. The south end of it becomes the guide in the southern hemisphere, as the north end is the guide in the northern hemisphere.

Too Crowded.

. . . So Daniel Boone was now on his way westward to Missouri, to a new land of fabled herds and wide spaces. . . . Waving his last farewells, he floated past the little groups—till their shouts of good will were long silenced, and his fleet swung out upon the Ohio.

As Boone sailed down the beautiful river which forms the northern boundary of Kentucky, old friends and newcomers who had only heard his fame rode from far and near to greet and godspeed him on his way. Sometimes he paused for a day with them. Once at least—this was in Cincinnati where he was taking on supplies—some one asked him why he was leaving the settled country to dare the frontier once more.

"Too crowded," he answered; "I want more elbow-room!"—Constance Lindsay Skinner.

SIXTH COUNTY SOCIETY DINNER IN N. Y. FEB. 21

Senator Calder Heads List of Guests Of Honor.

Members of the Ulster County Society in the City of New York are receiving the following letter:

February 1, 1922.

Fellow Member:

The sixth annual dinner of the Ulster County Society in the city of New York will be held at The Biltmore, Madison avenue and 43rd street, on Tuesday evening, February 21, 1922, at 8 o'clock, preceded by a reception at 7 o'clock.

Each year the reception has become a more popular feature as it allows an opportunity to renew friendships of many years' standing which too frequently have been interrupted through the stress of business. We should all bear in mind that each member's attendance not only brings pleasure to himself but is anticipated with pleasure by every acquaintance whom he has in the society. This delightful feature, in connection with our dinner, goes a great way toward effecting the real purpose of our organization, that of fellowship, and the member who absents himself from this event misses one of the greatest pleasures of "Auld Lang Syne."

Our honorary president, the Hon. William E. Cleary, will preside, and our guests of honor will be the Hon. William M. Calder, United States senator; the Hon. Frank White, author of "White on Corporations," Frank Crowninshield, editor of "Vanity Fair;" Dr. George F. Chandler, superintendent of state constabulary; and the Hon. Charles B. Ward, congressman of the Ulster county district.

The entertainment committee assures us that the dinner will be even better than that which was served last year and also tells us that there will be some innovations for the enjoyment of those who attend.

Please fill in the enclosed reservation blank and use the addressed envelope and mail same promptly. If you have failed to pay your dues, kindly include the amount thereof in your check.

Yours for Olde Ulster,
MAC DONALD DE WITT,
President.
JOSEPH DRAKE, Secretary.

ST. PETER'S FIVE BEATS STONE RIDGE

In a fast and exciting game played at Stone Ridge Wednesday evening, St. Peter's five of Kingston gave Stone Ridge their first defeat of the season. Both teams played hard, but the fine passwork of the Kingston five proved to be the deciding factor of the game. Koenig and Murphy starred for St. Peter's, while Barley and Brink were the best for Stone Ridge.

On Wednesday evening, February 8 Stone Ridge will journey to New Paltz and play the New Paltz Five. Friday, February 10, the New Paltz five will play a return game at Stone Ridge.

The score was as follows:

St. Peter's.

	FG	FP	TP
Ryan, lf.	1	1	3
Murphy, rf.	3	3	9
Koenig, c.	5	1	11
Scanlon, lg.	2	0	4
Thurin, rg.	1	0	2
